UK SPORT INCREASES FUNDING

In recognition of the significant progress made by British Fencing's Performance Programme over the last year, UK Sport has increased the number of Podium Potential athlete places available from 12 to 18. These extra six places represent an increased investment of £720,000 over the next three years, in addition to resources being provided directly by UK Sport to athletes for Performance Awards and medical insurance. The overall funding to fencing for the four-year 2013-17 cycle is now almost £4 million.

LEON PAUL CONFIRMED AS OFFICIAL EQUIPMENT PROVIDER

An exclusive one-year sponsorship deal has been agreed between British Fencing and Leon Paul whereby the company will supply equipment for the following events: Beazley British championships, junior and cadet championships, British youth championships, British schools championships, Eden Cup and Leon Paul International.

MBE FOR WHEELCHAIR FENCING PRESIDENT

The British Disabled Fencing Association's President Brian Dickinson was recognised in the New Year's Honours' list and awarded an MBE for his services to wheelchair fencing. A prime mover in disability fencing for over 50 years, he has been a multi-medallist at every level from the Paralympics to the national championships. And he has had a great deal of influence on the development of disability fencing with regard to the rules for competition and the development of specialist equipment, serving on the International Wheelchair Fencing Committee from 1984 to 2005.

Georgina Usher

USHER IS NEW CEO

British Fencing has appointed Georgina Usher as its new Chief Executive Officer. She takes over from Peter King on 1 April. Usher, 41, brings to her role a highly successful fencing career – 10 times British women's epee champion – with experience in management consultancy. A Board member since 2012, she said: "Fencing is a fantastic sport with an exciting future, and I am delighted to have been offered the role of CEO. I look forward to bringing together the passion and knowledge of the fencing community with the support and experience of our partners and sponsors to help us meet the challenges that lie ahead and create a vibrant future for the sport."

BRITONS ON EFC COMMISSIONS

Five British representatives have been appointed to European Fencing Confederation commissions. They are:

Athletes – Richard Kruse

Competitions – Hilary Philbin

Medical – Gareth Bashir

Semi – Peter Huggins

Wheelchair – Paul Cordell

The EFC received 86 nominations from 28 federations for places on the 10 commissions, with our five appointments being recognition of Great Britain's expertise in a broad range of specialist areas.

BOA ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

The British Olympic Association (BOA) has selected James Davis as the BOA Olympic athlete of 2013. Davis's gold medal performance at the St Petersburg Grand Prix made him the first Briton to win a Grand Prix fencing title since 2009. At the European Championships, he also won an individual and team bronze in men's foil.

Message from the Chair

My theme for this message to you, the BF members, in your magazine is “Changing times”. Yes – more change!

I write as I have just completed three years as your British Fencing Chair, the first independent Chair. My initial remit was to review with the then Board of directors the changes needed to take the sport forward and specifically how to meet the demands of public funding. Everyone knew that new investment was needed to grow fencing and to win medals. Everyone also understood that to justify such investment from the public purse, we had to secure better governance.

Much has changed in the past three years. The Board has been restructured and new directors elected and appointed. We inherited financial issues, which we are addressing, overseen by the new Audit Governance & Risk Committee. Members had the opportunity to hear first hand about the BF finances and the steps we are taking from the Committee’s chair, John Troiano, at the AGM last Autumn. Recently established is a Marketing Group (chaired by William Pitt) focusing on promoting our sport. A Grow Group has been formed with England Fencing. There is a refreshed Referees Committee led by Oliver Smith to coordinate development and education at all levels. The much sought after “Green” rating for good governance was achieved last October. With that boost, both UK Sport and Sport England increased our funding until 2017.

This April we start a new phase of change, with the arrival of our new CEO, Georgina Usher. Georgina is well known at home and abroad as a fencer. She brings with her the trust and confidence of our community. But your Board was also impressed with her all round suitability for this vital post – and we believe she will make a difference. One of her first tasks is to recruit a full time Development Director to manage our new “Grow” programme. In that vital effort, we look forward to a successful partnership with England Fencing; and we give a special welcome to the new EF Chair, Marie Matheson, and bid a fond farewell to the retiring Chair, Ray Stafford, a man who has made a terrific contribution to our sport.

It’s good to report our competition numbers are going up. The cadet and junior championships were held successfully at a new venue, SportsDock at University of East London, where we hope to host several events in the future. The British school team championships had 156 teams from 45 schools (including several entering the event for the first time), our biggest entry to date. All this is encouraging input to Georgina’s planned review of competitions and their management, which will be informed by Paul Abrahams’s recent calendar review for the Board.

There is an old political gag that says – “We’re all in favour of progress so long as it don’t mean change”. At British Fencing it means both. Your BF Board and management will continue to drive for progress, on all fronts, delivering growth and success for our sport. As ever, I invite members to call or mail me, at any time, with comments, advice and questions.

Eden Cup

INGARGIOLA WINS THE EDEN CUP

(Photos by Graham Morrison)

Seven of the 20-strong British contingent failed to make the cut in the Eden Cup junior world cup tournament and of the remaining 13 just two, as in 2012, managed to reach the L32, with one getting to the L16. Not that it was ever going to be easy, with 140 fencers from 23 countries taking part.

Up to the L32, one was aware of the mixture and jumble of national colours. Then suddenly the scene was dominated by French and Italian; they made up just under half the fencers, but the impact was more. Mourrain (FRA) gave a textbook demonstration of the Baldini/Avola approach – stylised on guard position with feet quite wide apart and knees well bent, quick pattering steps to work the distance, simple lunge when the opportunity was there, well timed ripostes and counter-ripostes even in counter-time and occasional long poised attacks. He beat Maci, a real Italian, in a hotly contested fight.

GB's highest placed competitor, Kristjan Archer, came 11th. He has a clear smooth athletic style and the gift of dominating many opponents by questioning everything that does not go his way. He tested every time he got no light or a white one and constantly grabbed his opponent's blade to test on his jacket when a hit registered on him. I would find that fairly provocative. In the L16 he met Ingargiola, who was just too good and won methodically 15-6, but then he is the reigning world cadet champion.

Mourrain fell to Ingargiola in the next round. I was really impressed by the Italian, the elegance of his fencing, not visually but in making each move at just the right moment, and his coolness in applying what he was trying to do. He moved well, not just backwards and forwards but from side to side.

Ingargiola scores the first hit in the final

Francesco Ingargiola of Italy wins the 2013 Eden Cup

Two Frenchmen, Chastanet and Antoine, met in one semi-final, the former winning 15-12, while Ingargiola took on Chang (USA) in the other. The American made the Italian work, but was never really threatening. In the final between two 17-year-olds, Ingargiola beat Chastanet smoothly 15-9.

Once more there was the disappointing sight of defeated British fencers going home rather than watch the Italians, French, Americans and others who had shown themselves more advanced. I read the other day that a top sportsman said he learned at least as much from watching people more successful than him when he first got into serious competitions as he did from what he was formally taught by his very good coach.

The other disappointing feature was the lack of spectators who were not attached to any competitor, and who might have been coaches in their local clubs. This is now the only FIE world cup competition at any level in this country. You can see styles and techniques from the leading fencing nations at the age group which most of us work with in clubs, yet I suspect that I was the only person there who did not have a personal connection with a competitor. Nor were there any club parties watching. Why the lack of curiosity? Surely a coach needs to see in the flesh the level to be aimed at? It was an opportunity missed.

CADETS

MEN'S FOIL

Seventy-nine foilists took part in the biggest field of the cadet events. Daniel Kiss (Salle Kiss) was in top spot after winning all his first round matches and cruised into the semi-finals where he won a tough fight 15-14 against Dominic De Almeida (Fighting Fit). Despite dropping a first round fight and only being ranked tenth for the knockout stages, Kamal Minott (Newham) also had a relatively easy run to the semis. There, a 15-13 victory over John Feaster (Malvern Hills) took him into the final.

Minott started the better of the two, taking a 4-1 lead, but Kiss fought back to go ahead 5-4 with a minute left in the first period. Minott retook the lead with a parry riposte and was then awarded a second hit when Kiss received a yellow card for covering. This seemed to spur on the Newham fencer and by the first break he was 9-6 up. Unable to regularly find a way around his opponent's defence, Kiss could not take control of the fight and Minott took the title 15-13.

WOMEN'S FOIL

Yasmin Campbell (Fighting Fit) and Jade Clarke (Wellington) put in supreme performances in the first round to take the top two spots for the direct elimination. Neither fencer was in any danger of going out on their way to the final.

The title fight, a battle between two left-handers, started slowly for Clarke, but she took control from 2-4 down. Luring her opponent into attacking from long distance, Clarke was able to land direct hits with perfect timing and took a 10-7 at the one and only break. Sensing victory, Clarke began the second period by applying a bit more pressure on her opponent, a tactic that worked well as she eased to a comfortable 15-9 victory. The bronze medals went to Katrina Feklistova (Newham) and Emma Kurtis (Hymers College).

MEN'S EPEE

Charles Dean (Truro) and Theo Edwards (Oundle, Peterborough & Stamford) topped the seeding for the direct elimination, but both were knocked out in the L32. Andrew Hughes (Eltham College), whose only loss in the first round was to Edwards, comfortably fought his way through the tableau to make the final. He was joined by George Morris (Stockport), who started badly, winning only two of his poule bouts to be seeded 34th, but recovered his form in the DE. Apart from a close 15-14 victory over Owen Jordan (Frisby) in the quarter-finals, he was untroubled on his way to the gold medal match.

The final began in cagey fashion before Morris picked off first two hits. Hughes settled and there was only one point in it (8-7 to Morris) at the first break. Morris began the second period much the same as he had the first by establishing a two-hit lead (10-8). This gave him breathing space and he opened the distance up, making it more difficult for his opponent to hit him. This tactic paid off and by the second break he was 14-9 up and very much in control. He made the winning hit, a second intention parry riposte to the high line, early in the third period to take the title 15-9. Antoine Belot (Escrime Academy) and William Gallimore-Tallen (Four of Clubs) took the bronze medals.

WOMEN'S EPEE

Alix Turley (Malvern Hills) made light work of getting to the final, winning all her first round matches and was barely troubled throughout the direct elimination. She was joined by her club mate Danielle Lawson, who had a tough semi-final, only just beating Lydia Stanier (Furth) 15-13.

The title fight lived up to expectations, with both fencers unable to establish a meaningful lead. Turley led 5-4 at the first break, but the intensity of the match increased in the second period. Lawson scored twice before Turley levelled the score at 7-7. Lawson was 10-8 up at the next break, but the lead changed yet again in the third period as Turley went ahead 12-11. At 13-11 up with only 36 seconds left on the clock, Turley appeared to be about to take the title. There was more drama to come though. In less than 20 seconds Lawson had equalised and then both fencers settled for the priority minute. Lawson, with the advantage, was content to let her opponent do the work from distance. It paid off, as she was able to step away from a long attack from Turley and then strike in the low line to take the title. Rebecca Wakefield, another Malvern Hills fencer, shared the bronze medal spot with Stanier.

MEN'S SABRE

Dominant first round performances from Truro sabreurs William Deary and Jamie Craze made them the top two seeds for the knockout stages. Deary made light work of reaching the final, but Craze found himself in a real battle in L32 against James Fotherby (Xiphoi), only squeezing through 15-14 before going on to make the final.

Deary came out for the title fight in confident fashion, producing a stunning display of tactical sabre fencing to take an 8-2 lead into the break in a little over 30 seconds. He remained in almost complete control of the second period, storming to the title with a 15-7 victory. With two more years left at this age group, he is certainly one to watch for the future.

The bronze medals went to Eden Amsalem (Camden) and Nicholas Howes (South London).

WOMEN'S SABRE

A relatively small field of 27 fencers took part in this event. With no defeats in the first round, Caitlin Maxwell (Truro) and Isabel Turnbull (MX) were seeded one and two respectively for the DE. Both merited their seeding as they made it through to the final. Maxwell made steady progress to the semi-finals where she beat Shreya Anil (Camden) 15-13. It was harder work for her opponent who edged out Maria Chart (Truro) 15-14 in the quarter-finals before beating club mate Laura Gladdish 15-13 in the semis.

In the final, both fencers traded hits to 5-all. Maxwell's laid-back approach and excellent footwork saw her take an 8-6 lead into the break, but Turnbull's aggressive approach to the second period saw the momentum shift as she levelled the fight at 9-all. With no more than one hit between them, the fight went to 13-all before Maxwell executed two excellently timed hits on Turnbull's approach to take the title 15-13. Her victory meant a clean sweep of the cadet sabre titles for Truro Fencing Club and at just 14 years old Caitlin Maxwell can look forward to a bright future.

MEN'S FOIL

George Hendrie (Chichester) topped the first round, only dropping three hits along the way. He made light work of his elimination fights until he met Lyle Bryant (Sussex House) in the quarter-finals. A nervy match saw him edge through 15-14 followed by a 15-11 victory over Rajan Rai (Newham). On the other side of the draw, Hussain Sadiq (Academy) was second seed but he didn't make it past the L32, where he was beaten 15-12 by Isaac Mulcahy (Glastonbury). However, it was Daniel Kiss who made it two finals in a row, beating Charlie St John (ZFW) 15-13 in the semis.

Daniel Kiss ripostes to beat Charlie St John in the Junior men's foil semi-finals

The final was a gritty affair. Kiss was the more compact of the two, but Hendrie's free-flowing approach proved effective and he led 9-4 with a minute left in the first period. Then Kiss closed the distance and the gap to 9-8 at the first break. He started the second period more aggressively, but Hendrie seemed to find even more fight and took the title 15-10, finishing with a beautiful parry riposte.

WOMEN'S FOIL

After the first round Leah King (Sussex House) and Yvonne Chart (Truro) topped the rankings. Only one other fencer, Alexandra Fitton (Kiss), won all her bouts, but she did not make it past the L16, losing 12-15 to Isabella Gill (Paul). King went down 7-8 in the quarter-finals to Lucy Taylor (Mid Down). Chart's day ended in the semis, edged out 15-14 by Ayesha Fihosy (Boston). It was back-to-back finals for the cadet champion Jade Clarke (Wellington), who battled through the table with 15-14 wins over Georgia Poil (Surrey) and Chiara McDermott (Boston) before a relatively easy 15-9 win over Taylor in her semi-final. Clarke took an early two-hit lead in the final, but Fihosy quickly equalised and then went on to take control of the fight with an assured display of distance control combined with a fast and accurate hand to lead 7-3 with two minutes of the first period still left. Clarke was not done though. She started mixing counter-attacks with parry ripostes and drew level at 11-all with 30 seconds left in the opening period. Both fencers started the second period with a clear game plan, Fihosy intent on increasing the pace of the fight and Clarke determined to fence at a longer distance. A fantastic finish saw Fihosy take the gold 15-13, but the cadet champion should be pleased with her performance in the junior event.

MEN'S EPEE

Two fencers from Millfield stood at the top of the rankings after the first round, Roo Whelan and Craig Worman, though neither made it past the L16, Whelan falling to Charles Dean (Truro) 15-10 and Worman to Aml Sinclair (Brixton) 15-13. It was third seed Paul Sanchez-Lethem (Brixton) who fought his way through the field to the final, overcoming William Grealey (Redhill & Reigate) 14-13 in the quarter-finals and teammate Sinclair 11-10 in the semis. His opponent in the final, Laurence Peplow (Guildford), beat Harry Peck (Brixton) 15-14 and then Harrison Nichols (Redhill & Reigate) 15-13 on the way.

Sanchez-Lethem took an early two-hit lead, but Peplow fought back to trail only 2-3 at the first break and 6-7 at the second. The Brixton fencer was content to sit back and wait for his opponent to attack him, opening up the lead to 10-6 and eventually winning 15-9.

WOMEN'S EPEE

Only Eleanor Cormack (Kenilworth) and Amy Radford (Malvern Hills) emerged from the first round without being defeated. Both progressed to the quarter-finals, but then fell to Elisabeth Powell (Melia) 15-10 and Lydia Stanier (Furth) 15-11 respectively. Those two went on to contest the gold medal.

Powell scored first, but Stanier used her height and reach to pull ahead 4-1 before a more measured approach from Powell saw her retake the lead 5-4 at the first break. The two traded hits before a double took the score to 13-11 in Powell's favour. One more double and Powell was just one hit away from the title, but two attacks in quick succession from Stanier levelled the score at 14-all. Stanier bravely attacked with just 16 seconds left on the clock became the junior champion with a single light.

MEN'S SABRE

It was no surprise to see Ruben Amsalem and Jonathan "JJ" Webb, both from Camden, topping the table after the first round. The highlight of Amsalem's progress to the final was the meeting with his brother Eden. Ruben progressed 15-12 before beating Jacob Gander-Compton (Bedford) 15-9 in his semi-final match. Webb had a thrilling 15-13 victory over William Halliwell (Shakespeare) in the L16 and went on to beat Noah Robertson (Truro) 15-13 to make the gold medal match.

The final saw the two teammates go at each other with a fine display of aggressive and skillful fencing. Webb took the narrowest of leads into the break at 8-7. They traded the first two hits of the second period before Webb went on a four-hit run to lead 12-8. Amsalem did not let his head go down though and two attacks followed by a distance trap on the back line meant there was just one point in it. Webb upped the pace of the fight with a stunning attack advancing the full length of the piste to take a 14-11 lead. Amsalem had one more hit left in him before Webb took the title with a beautiful flunge attack.

WOMEN'S SABRE

Only Laura Gladdish (MX) and Shreya Anil (Camden) emerged from the poules with no defeats. Anil progressed to the quarter-finals but was beaten 15-13 by Emily Ruau (Rivington Park), who went on to make the final by defeating Jessica Corby (West Fife) 15-7. Gladdish progressed serenely to the semi-final stage, but was then edged out 15-14 by her teammate and cadet silver medallist Isabel Turnbull.

The final was a match up of contrasting styles. Turnbull was the busier of the two and took an early lead, but Ruau's calm yet assured approach took her to an 8-6 lead into the break. A burst of activity in the second period saw Ruau leading 14-10, but a lovely stop-cut followed by an attack put Turnbull within touching distance. However, Ruau was not to be denied as she evaded her opponent's attack and struck the final blow to take the title 15-12.

GLL Camden International Cadet Sabre

Ronald Velden has been running the Camden international cadet sabre tournament for eight years and this year – his last, he says – he secured, with the help of long-term sponsor GLL, the Copper Box in Olympic Park as the venue. With Leon Paul supplying equipment for 13 metallic pistes, it provided fencers and spectators alike with splendid facilities.

More than 200 fencers took part, with all the major countries represented except Hungary and Russia. In the 126-strong boys' event, the 40 Brits were whittled down to six by the L32. Those successful at this stage had to face repechage, which allowed each fencer one loss before being eliminated by a second. Only Joshua Maxwell and William Deary made it to the L16. Deary beat Palumbo (ITA) 15-9, lost to Patrice (FRA) 8-15, beat Palumbo again and finally lost to Rosetti (ITA) 11-15 to finish 13th.

Maxwell went one stage further, defeating Sun (USA) 15-9, losing to Ramunno (ITA) 11-15 but then beating three Frenchmen – Hervy 15-5, Chauchoy 15-14 and Bibi 15-15 – to reach the quarter-finals, where he again fell to Ramunno, this time 5-15, to finish 5th.

The French dominated the final stages, with Patrice beating Ramunno 15-8 in one semi while his compatriots Dubarry and Van Hoffelen battled it out in the other. Some crisp parry-ripostes saw Dubarry steadily increase his lead to win 15-9. The all-French final lacked excitement and proceeded to 9-all before Dubarry began to anticipate his opponent's attacks more accurately and produced some fine parry-ripostes to win 15-11.

In the 81-strong girls' event, 27 Britons were also reduced to six by the L32, with three reaching the L16. Kerry Plunkett defeated teammate Laura Gladdish 15-6 before losing to Goudoura (GRE) 12-15 and finishing 12th. Gladdish lost her second repechage fight 6-15 to Emura (JPN) to finish 13th, while Caitlin Maxwell finished 16th.

Four different countries contested the semi-finals. In one match, Queroli (FRA) raced to an 8-0 lead against Goudoura at the break before the Greek fought back to within four hits, ultimately losing 10-15. The other semi was a much tighter and more emotional affair. Emura took an early 6-3 lead against Lucarini (ITA), but the Italian stormed back to equalise at 11-all, then 12-all, 13-all and finally 14-all after five simultaneous attacks. As she rushed forward again, the Japanese coolly stop hit her to snatch a dramatic 15-14 victory.

The final was no less eventful. Queroli led 8-5 at the break and maintained her advantage to 12-9, but Emura remained calm and collected the next three hits to equalise. Then she executed a delicate cut under the arm to go ahead 13-12, only for Queroli to equalise and do it again when Emura went 14-13 up. When a final near-simultaneous attack was judged in the Japanese's favour, Emura became the first Asian winner of this tournament.

In the boys' team event, GB A beat Spain B 45-35 and Germany A 45-43 before falling by the narrowest of margins to France A 44-45 to finish equal third. The French B squad beat their A team 45-42 in the final. GB's A-team girls lost to Germany 42-45, the final ending in a relatively easy win for France over Japan 45-30.

Fencing for the visually impaired

Norfolk Fencing Club has for some time supported the provision of local initiatives to enable physically disabled people, those with learning difficulties, including attention deficit disorders, and the visually impaired to try fencing (The Sword, October 2009 – Fencing for the Blind). These events, in the main, have been organised by John Croxon, a specialist coach.

Whilst fencing might seem an unlikely sport for the visually impaired, there are historical accounts of the blind engaging in the activity. It is known that in the past the military have encouraged this as part of the rehabilitation of individuals who have suffered war injuries (The Sword, January 2010 – letters, Mark Barton).

The first blind person to engage in the sport in Norwich (2005) had been registered blind since birth. Through John Croxon's endeavours, he achieved grade 4 in foil and 1 in sabre. To enable him to fence on the piste with other club members involved a number of methods being tried and tested, as well as the development of special equipment.

In 2009, having liaised with British Blind Sport, a number of come-and-try sessions were organised. One of the first participants was Charles Townsend. Initially he lacked confidence and was very reliant on his white cane, which he carried even during the warm-up sessions. Over time this aid was set aside. His family observed that his general confidence had noticeably grown since taking up fencing.

Charles became a full member of the club, participating in normal club lessons/free play and social events. It was particularly encouraging to see the positive effect this had on his life beyond the limits of the fencing salle.

An annual competition for the disabled, which included the visually impaired, is organised by the French Disabled Sports Federation (FDSA). John Croxon attended one of the events and competed blindfolded, which was greatly appreciated by the organisers. Later he attended a training camp organised by the FDSA, which led to a more formal introduction to the visually impaired group by Laszlo Jakab, the British Disabled Fencing Association coach. As a consequence and because of the French interest in the specialist equipment John has been instrumental in developing, he was invited to a competition in Pollestres, south-western France, and was also able to negotiate an entry for Charles Townsend.

Apart from overcoming the financial hurdles Charles had to undergo a crash course in epee, given that the French visually impaired fencers are restricted to the use of this weapon. He managed to secure a 4th place, for which he was awarded a medal and a trophy, reflecting the fact that he was the first British visually impaired fencer to compete in an international competition. John Croxon was also presented with a trophy by the organisers in recognition of his work with the disabled.

Norfolk is fortunate in that John continues to work with the disabled. This requires a considerable degree of commitment, patience, fortitude and ingenuity. It was hoped that the Paralympics would result in more financial support for disabled sports, which might stimulate more specialist coaching, but this has yet to materialise to any extent at club level.

Obituaries

EVE DAVIES (NÉE BERRY) (1924 – 2013)

Eve Davies, who has died at the age of 89, was one of Britain's most distinguished fencers and administrators. A member of Salle Paul, she first came to prominence in 1952, when she won the junior championship. In 1955 and 1958, she won the Desprez Cup and was twice runner-up to Gillian Sheen in the British championship. For five years she was a member of the British team at the world championships – 1954, 1955, 1956 (team), 1957 and 1959.

Eve went on to play a major role in women's foil administration, being team manager and captain for many years, including the 1968 and 1972 Olympic Games, then president of the Ladies' Amateur Fencing Union from 1973 to 1976 and chairman until 1981. She was made a Vice-President of British Fencing in 1981 and was awarded the BFA gold medal in 2003.

I first came in contact with Eve Berry, as she was then, when I entered my first senior national competition, the Desprez Cup, in 1955. She was in my first round pool and I made my exit there, while she went on to win the competition.

As we continued to meet in competition, a friendship developed between us and I came to see what a remarkable person she was. She was not a stylish fencer, but an exceptionally intelligent one, who relied largely on foresight and timing to win fights. This intelligence was a huge part of Eve. Essentially practical, she taught advanced mathematics and applied similar thinking to her fencing, cutting straight to the point of any conversation, whether with a blade or not. She did not suffer fools gladly.

She married Wilfred Davies in 1959 and they had two children. As so often happens, this curtailed her fencing somewhat, but she always maintained an interest and would discuss with me my decision to give up competitive fencing in favour of teaching. Her advice was invaluable. She and Wilf were godparents to my son and we visited each other frequently.

Her final days were spent in a rest home, almost opposite the house in Winchester where she had lived for so many years.

Shirley Parker

“She was not a stylish fencer, but an exceptionally intelligent one, who relied largely on foresight and timing to win fights.”

“For well over a decade, Raymond and René were the stars of British foil, fighting under the banner of the Salle Paul club founded by their father Leon Paul.”

RAYMOND PAUL (1928-2013)

Raymond Paul, who died on 23 December 2013 aged 85 was, with his elder brother René, one of a select band of British fencers who made a remarkable impact on the international scene in the 1950s and 60s.

The two brothers represented Great Britain at the Olympic Games in Helsinki in 1952 and in Melbourne 1956, where Raymond, together with his teammate Allan Jay, reached the eight-man final of the men's foil. Matched together in their first fight, they tied at 4-4, with one hit to go, when Raymond mistakenly turned away, supposing he had landed the winning touch, instead receiving a hit on the back. Without that mishap, he would surely have gone on to win a medal.

For well over a decade, Raymond and René were the stars of British foil, fighting under the banner of the Salle Paul club founded by their father Leon Paul. Leon was one of the most successful fencing coaches of his day, counting Allan Jay (world foil champion in 1959) as one of his pupils, and started his two sons at fencing when they were around seven or eight.

Raymond was British men's foil champion four times – in 1953, 55, 57 and 58 – and runner-up five times. He also won the two premier events that also fielded international fencers from abroad, the Coronation Cup and the Emrys Lloyd Cup, three times each in the years 1951-63. The brothers led their club to victory 15 times in the British national team championships between 1948 and 1972. Internationally, Raymond reached the semi-finals of the Monaco world championships in 1950, placed 2nd at the renowned Duval tournament in Paris in 1956 and in 1957 reached the Last 8 at the Paris Martini and the semi-finals of the Paris world championships.

After he had won the British championship for the third time, The Sword reported: "Raymond's direct attacks are well-nigh impossible to parry. His reactions are incredibly quick and his accuracy in hitting the target is probably at its best." He was part of the team that won Commonwealth Games gold medals in 1950, 1954 and 1958 and in that last year he also won individual gold.

From the late 1950s to the early 1960s Britain was among the top five fencing nations in the world, and that was in part due to the Paul brothers – Raymond, lean and self-consciously dramatic with explosive attacks, and René, short, compact and with a near-impregnable defence. Remarkably, René's sons Graham and Barry, who were to become stalwarts of the British team from 1966 till 1977, had similarly contrasting styles, Barry looking just like his father, Graham like his uncle. The third successful Paul of this generation, Raymond's son Steven, was unusual in choosing epee, but like his two cousins was not just a long-time member of the British team but one of those in it of truly international class. In a sport where one generation will often pass down its gifts to the next, no other British family has come near to equalling the Pauls' remarkable history.

Raymond Rudolph Valentine Paul was born in 1928 to Leon and Anna, of French and Lithuanian origin respectively, who had settled in London. At school Raymond was a gifted non-conformist often getting into trouble but a highly talented fencer and in a different country/regime would surely have won world or even Olympic medals. He left school and went straight to work at a manufacturer of hearing aids. When he started work at Leon Pauls, he brought to the firm an ability to integrate the latest technology into fencing equipment. As Barry Paul recalls, "Raymond was never frightened to try new manufacturing techniques. He would often be told what he was proposing was impossible only to prove them wrong by making his ideas work, commissioning the first microprocessor scoring machine. He realised Leon Paul needed a secure supply of blades and financed the development of a blade forging plant, along the way co-inventing the Leon Paul epee blade."

At the Olympic Games in Helsinki he became engaged to June Foulds, the British women's 100 m champion who won a bronze medal. Four years on, she won a silver in the Melbourne Games, the same year Raymond made the Olympic final; they married later that year.

On the death of their father in 1963, Raymond and his brother took over the running of the family business. Under their direction Leon Paul Equipment Co Ltd became one of the largest manufacturers of fencing equipment in the world, with important innovations such as the foil bayonet body wire system and the offset 3-pin plug.

Raymond also acted as fencing double for such silver screen stars as Errol Flynn in several classic swashbuckling films of the 1950s. He lived in Highgate most of his life, where his home was the centre for the London fencing community, and his New Year's Day parties were famous – each beginning with a soccer game on Highgate Fields featuring over 50 people from top athletes to Raymond, still playing in his late sixties, followed by a massive feast prepared by his wife, consisting of an endless supply of courses, and teasing, convoluted quizzes with generous prizes, as competitively fought for as any fencing bout. His house sported a downstairs reception area fitted out to resemble an ancient Roman dining hall, with ornate pillars, marble flooring and classical busts, while the marital bedroom was decked out in the style of Rudolf Valentino's 1921 film The Sheik (but then he was himself named after the famous actor, who numbered Raymond's mother among his admirers).

In 1970 Raymond and June divorced and two years later he married Barbara Jones who survives him together with three children from his first marriage, Steven, Danielle and Charlie, and a daughter, Anastasia, from his second.

SECOND INTENTION

by Anthony Venner

Richard Teasedale is married to Sue and is the Purchasing Manager for a pharmaceutical company. He is also a keen club fencer on the domestic competition circuit where he occasionally runs up against an “unpleasant and annoying little sod” called Toby Rutherford who comes from a privileged background.

Setting out for a competition Richard discovers not one but two flat tyres on his car... a coincidence?... and arrives late to find he has been scratched. And after a verbal spat with a sneering Toby he goes to retrieve his fencing bag but finds that it has been unzipped in his absence... strange. Then he and Sue start receiving silent calls at home from a withheld number, and at his next training session he finds that all the body wires in his fencing bag have been tampered with... paranoia reigns!

The final straw comes when, having clicked on an email at work which appears to produce just a blank screen, he returns to work the following day to be met at the door by the Personnel Manager and informed that pornographic images sent to a number of the female staff came from his computer. He is thereupon relieved of his swipe card and office keys and escorted from the building pending an investigation...

So why should anybody be wanting to upset the equilibrium of his life? Is it linked to somebody from his past, to his activities on the fencing competition circuit, or is it something closer to home? Maybe it's me but I wasn't entirely convinced by the denouement.

Nevertheless I enjoyed this book. It contains much more enjoyable narrative than I have outlined above and the author describes the domestic fencing scene and the thought processes during a fight very well. I could feel a knot in my stomach as if I was there on the piste, and the occasional inclusion of the surnames of real fencers adds further verisimilitude. A good read.

Second Intention by Anthony Venner is published by Blame Culture UK at £6.99 paperback.

THE FENCER (L'ESCRIMEUR)

by Rodrigo Ayala

On receipt of this book I started with the cover where I learned that the author “...has lived in six different countries and speaks four different languages...” ...what else could they have been but different? Hmm. I then learned from the accompanying publicity sheet that the author is a “former top-level international competitive fencer”, but an internet search drew a complete blank. Not the most promising start.

The book's hero is Francis, an attractive and cultured young man but emotionally damaged by his wealthy but overbearing father who is determined he shall not realise an ambition to become a concert pianist but shall instead become a world champion fencer. To that end a fencing salle has been built inside the family mansion and 15 of the best fencers in the world have been induced to train there under the tutelage of three world-class maître d'armes. We follow Francis through his childhood, his antagonistic relationship with his younger brother Germain who is being similarly groomed, his fallout with his father, his emotional immaturity and his propensity for dumping girlfriends without a second thought... until, that is, he meets Agnès.

It's not clear to what audience this book is primarily addressed. I say that because the descriptions of the fights between Francis and his opponents contain many terms familiar to fencers – parade in quinte, fleche, reprise, prise de fer – but with no glossary or explanation for the non-fencer the action can be hard to follow or visualise.

We know early on that both brothers make the top 64 in a world championship – chapters alternate between Francis's progress towards the final and his life away from the salle. Does he get to the final, who might be his opponent there, does he get the girl? As The Independent's review says: “It would be unfair to spoil the ending for those who have persevered to page 199. How many will do so is another question entirely”. I did. I was underwhelmed.

The Fencer by Rodrigo Ayala is published by Matador at £8.99 paperback.

A GUIDE TO DUELLING ETIQUETTE

by Jared Kirby

William Shakespeare may well have learned to fence at the Blackfriars school of Vincentio Saviolo, arguably the most influential fencing master in Elizabethan England. His book published in 1595 was divided into two parts: the first covering the use of the rapier and dagger, and the second addressing the subject of honour and the duel. It is this second part that has now been updated by the American historical martial arts specialist Jared Kirby, with explanatory notes to make it more accessible to the modern reader and a biography of the author.

The impact of Saviolo's book on London's cultural scene was huge. It led to Shakespeare and other authors introducing Italian fencing terms into their plays. Romeo and Juliet, as well as mentioning moves such as the passato and stoccata, includes references to the Italian style of fencing in such phrases as “the very butcher of a silk button”.

The book considers the causes of duels, rules concerning challenger and defender, the nature of verbal injury and what quarrels are worth fighting over, degrees of nobility, the basis of satisfaction, and the valour and virtue of women. It may be a late 16th century duelling code, but it can help the modern fencer understand the gravity and seriousness that lies at the heart of all swordplay. Reading it makes one aware that what constitutes honourable behaviour has not changed a great deal in 400 years.

A Gentleman's Guide to Duelling – Vincentio Saviolo's Of Honour and Honourable Quarrels, edited and presented by Jared Kirby, is published by Pen & Sword Books Ltd at £19.99.

LEON PAUL INTERNATIONAL

Kristijan Archer of Newham and Cambridge followed up his top British spot in the Eden Cup with an even better result the following day in the 178-strong FIE satellite Leon Paul International, taking out the No. 1 seed Saito (JPN) 14-13 in the L16 and then Trani (ITA) 15-13 in the quarter-finals before falling to the experienced Hatoel (ISR) 7-15 in the semis. The Israeli went on to win the event, beating Biondo (ITA), who had taken out Rhys Melia in the L16, 15-12 in the final.

Three British team members went out early: Richard Kruse surprisingly lost to Matsuyama (JPN), ranked 160 places below him in the world, 15-6 in the L32, Marcus Mepstead was edged out 14-13 by Osmanski (POL) in the L64 and Keith Cook fell to Buquet (FRA) 5-15 at the same stage.

VETERANS' CHAMPIONSHIPS

Four reigning champions retained their titles without difficulty at this year's national veterans' championships: John Troiano (men's foil), Neal Mallett (men's epee), Georgina Usher (women's epee) and Beth Davidson (women's sabre). Duncan Rowlands recaptured the men's sabre title he won four years ago and Kate O'Connell collected the women's foil title for the first time.

John Troiano

In men's foil John Troiano was never remotely troubled, cruising to the final with victories of 10-2, 10-3, 10-2 and 10-1. He met Paul Sibert, who had come through from 11th seed with good wins over Paul Lowen and Tony Williams. In the final Troiano took control from the start, using his reach and speed to go 4-1 up at the break and continuing on to win comfortably 10-5.

Kate O'Connell

Kate O'Connell emerged as No. 1 seed from the women's foil poules and reached the final with a 10-6 victory over Jenny Morris. From the other half of the draw she faced Jane Clayton, who had edged out Gillian Worman 9-8 in the minute of extra time. There was no more than a hit between the finalists to 4-all, but then O'Connell began to pull ahead against a tiring Clayton, eventually winning 10-7.

Neal Mallett

Neal Mallett seems to reserve his best performances for the men's epee final of the veterans' championship and this year was no exception. Although he was taken to 10-8 by Tim Buzwell in the L16, he reached the final with a cautious 4-1 win over Rob Flatt after two periods of non-combativity had been called. From the other half of the draw John Leahey came through with good victories over Robin Davenport 10-8, George Liston 10-7 and Anton Pollard 10-7. The final, however, was all one way traffic as Mallett delivered a dazzling variety of hits in attack and defence to romp home 10-3 and collect his seventh title.

Georgina Usher

Equally dominant in women's epee was Georgina Usher, whose scores improved as the competition developed with victories of 10-6, 10-3, 10-3 and finally 10-2 to retain her title. In the final she met Cat 3's Jane Clayton, who had done well to see off younger opponents Ingrid Heskett 10-6 and Nicola Hull 10-8 in the previous rounds and finished a satisfying weekend with two silver medals.

Duncan Rowlands

No. 2 seed after the men's sabre poules, Duncan Rowlands did it the hard way, defeating 14-times former champion Richard Cohen 10-7 in the quarter-finals and edging out Chris Prevett 10-9 in the semis. In the final he met Steve Potter, who had had an equally close 10-9 shave in his quarter-final against Pete Hutton before taking out Carl Morris 10-6. The final also went to 9-all before Rowlands snatched the last hit to collect his second title.

Beth Davidson

Beth Davidson had little trouble becoming women's sabre champion for the fifth consecutive year, defeating Michele Narey 10-2 in the semis and Jane Hutchison 10-5 in the final.

ZFW FENCING CLUB

After many years leading Salle Paul, Lansdowne, Britain's men's foil programme and establishing Finchley Foil for children, I decided to establish my own club. I have always enjoyed working with children as they are so interesting and rapidly changing – usually into something better!

Originally ZFW was a club for 7-15 year olds. We meet on Saturdays afternoon in Parliament Hill School in Highgate and are expanding slowly each term, ensuring that we maintain a high ratio of coaches to children, with every pupil receiving an individual lesson every week as part of their training. Our most recent recruit is my younger daughter, Ava, who has just turned 7!

Gradually more experienced students have joined ZFW to continue working with me, a trend that has increased since my contract with British Fencing was not renewed. Now we meet most Monday and Friday mornings at the Leon Paul centre, Tuesday afternoons in the wonderfully supportive Lansdowne club in Mayfair and Thursday evenings at the kind invitation of Tomek Walicki at Salle Boston.

The adult club also meets on Saturdays in Parliament Hill School before the junior session, which enriches the children's experience considerably; the older ones usually stay on and share their skills with the beginners. It is incredibly satisfying to watch James Davis, who I have coached since he was 9, doing footwork alongside today's 9 year olds. I plan to keep extending the number of evening club sessions and am in discussions for a larger, permanent north London venue, but this is work in progress.

At the fencers' initiative, they entered last year's British team championships under the ZFW name. It was fun to coach Peter Barwell, Charlie St John and Alex Lloyd to win the silver medal, although a little sad to see them beaten by Richard Kruse, who I have coached since he was 10. The team were truly great that day and the shots they produced were world class. It was equally great to see Charlie St John making the top 8 in the individual championship and the podium at the recent British junior championship. Younger fencers from ZFW are beginning to enter competitions, with David Sosnov making two U9 podiums and Charlotte White coming fifth in a recent U11 event.

I know from experience that world class performance can only be achieved by exposure to world class opponents. I have started – and will develop – a programme of international training sessions for ZFW fencers, with stars like Yuki Ota, Tobia Biondo and Gabriella Varga training with us in the last few months at the Leon Paul centre as well as Lansdowne. We've also benefitted greatly from access to the training of my friend USA national foil coach Greg Massialas, who provides ongoing support and advice. He and I will shortly be leading an international camp with Chinese fencers in Shanghai and I look forward to exposing ZFW fencers to the training methods, coaching techniques and sparring opportunities that come from this level of international work.

The club is lucky to have coaches like former Hungarian champion Gabriella Varga, former Italian international Marco Gianello and Peter Barwell, who is an excellent coach of younger children and, like Gabriella, coaches in exchange for lessons from me. Children also benefit greatly from the smart coaching of Alex Lloyd. Richard Kruse continues to take lessons five times a week and trains in the club as well as during world cup and GP competitions plus zonal and world championships.

ZFW also operates in schools. One of our coaches, Ben Peggs, is coaching at Herewood House School and fencers from that school are beginning to join the ZFW Saturday sessions. My wife Felicity has helped with the setting up of the club and we hope that through ZFW I will have the opportunity to develop another generation of top foilists in Britain.

BRONZE FOR SINCLAIR AT EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIPS

Brixton Fencing Club's Aml Sinclair, 16, claimed Britain's only medal at the European Cadet Championships with a stunning bronze medal winning performance in the men's epee event. In a field of 86 fencers, he came through the first round without losing any of his five fights and was ranked fifth for the knockout stages where he beat Poncelet (BEL) 15-9, Nagurnyi (UKR) 15-4, Dorigo (FRA) 15-14 and Timo (ITA) 15-8 to make the semi-finals. There he met Siklosi (HUN) who went three hits up before Aml got into the fight. Going into the second period he trailed 4-5, but by the start of the third period he had closed the gap and then took the lead at 12-10. As time ticked away, Siklosi managed to level the match at 13-all at the end of normal time. A priority minute followed with Aml holding the advantage, but the Hungarian took the fight with a fabulous last hit.

Daniel Kiss (Salle Kiss) just missed a medal in men's foil, going down 14-15 to Tarasiewicz (POL) in the quarter-finals. He dropped one of his six poule fights to be seeded 13th and cruised through the L64 against Galushvili (GEO) 15-6 before edging out teammate Kamal Minott 15-11 and beating Menkuer (TUR) 15-6.

MARSH MAKES L8 IN GOTHENBURG

Philip Marsh, 19, put in an impressive showing at the junior men's epee World Cup in Gothenburg, finishing sixth. A massive field of 214 started the event and Marsh did not have a great start, winning three bouts in his poule round to end up as 79th seed. But he earned a bye to the L128 and knowing he was always going to face higher ranked fencers seemed to spur him on. Victories over Nakamura (JPN) 15-9, Mathis (SUI) 15-8, Allegre (FRA) 15-7 and third seed Bayard (SUI) 15-13 in the L16 took him to the quarter-finals.

Since he now trains in Paris, it was inevitable he would meet a French fencer to proceed to the medal matches. Against Varela, who kept up an aggressive tempo, he was unable to retreat fast enough or land counter-attacks and the Frenchman won 15-11.

AWARDS FOR CADET GIRLS

The four girl foilists (Isabella Dmochowska, Yasmin Campbell, Jade Clarke and Katrina Fekliskova) who qualified for the cadet European championships have each received a grant of £200 from the Sue Wojciechowska Fund. The fund was established to support young female foilists in memory of Sue Wojciechowska (née Wrigglesworth) who, at 17 in 1972, became the youngest woman to fence in Britain's Olympic team. Anyone wishing to make a donation to this cause should send a cheque made payable to the fund c/o the editor of The Sword.

CADET WINTON 2013

The 26th Cadet Winton, held as always on the last full weekend before Christmas at Millfield School in Street, Somerset, saw a record eleven regional teams entering, with the North East taking part for the first time in over 15 years. Overall winner was the South East captained by Meg and Phil Shepherd-Foster, with the region's Isabel Turnbull (girls' sabre) winning the best individual trophy, being the only undefeated fencer over the whole weekend.

Weapon trophies were won as follows:

Boys' foil – Eastern
Girls' foil – North East
Boys' epee – East Midlands
Girls' epee – West Midlands
Boys' sabre – South East
Girls' sabre – South East

Two special awards were presented to Allan Cooke and Nicholas Murphy for their continued support of youngsters fencing and the Cadet Winton in particular, both having captained their Regions' teams for many years.

The two youngest members of the South East team, Mirren Black and Tom de Whalley, are presented with the trophy by event organiser Prof. Norman Golding
