

English Chess Federation
The Official Chess Yearbook

2011

Foreword

2010 was a momentous year but not always for all the right reasons.

My first full term as ECF President saw a seismic shift in how the Federation worked, largely due to the efforts of passionate and energetic Board members. However, two very dedicated servants of English chess stood down from their duties. We owe a huge debt of gratitude to Chris Majer as he leaves his post as Chief Executive (to be succeeded by Andrew Farthing who is already receiving praise from all quarters). Especially though, I would personally like to humbly thank Cynthia Gurney whose work over more years than she cares to remember has repeatedly served and saved the domestic game countless times.

I myself have tried to be as available, accessible and as approachable as possible. I have visited over 30 congresses, clubs and events, talking, playing but, most importantly, listening. I have tried to increase the prestige of chess throughout the wider country. The Staunton Memorial Dinner, attended by Kasparov, Karpov and the cream of the British game, was a great success and for February 2011 I've organised a nationwide tour with Nigel Short.

The 2011 British Championships will be the strongest ever with at least 12 Grandmasters playing, including hopefully the top 6 in the rating list. With these events, as well as the incredible London Chess Classic and World Championship bids, Britain is re-establishing itself as the centre for the international game.

Nevertheless, further afield, things are not quite so rosy. I attended the Olympiad and FIDE Congress in Khanty-Mansiysk and my opinions were split - I enjoyed the former and was sickened by the latter. My reports are widely known and were deeply unpopular in many places. However, I cannot believe that any man should be of such a mind to witness what he considers injustice and do nothing for fear of consequences. This may be controversial and cause problems but doing what we know to be right may not always be easy. I have never been afraid to be a target and I believe the ECF must be a source of light in the darker corners of world chess.

We have a lot to look forward to and the Federation board is working in difficult national circumstances to ensure that players of all levels are represented, heard and provided for. If we are elected by you, our only way of repaying that is to serve you. I hope that the shining promise of the future is as rewarding as the glories of the past

- CJ de Mooi, ECF President

It was the end of an era on September 30th 2010 when Cynthia Gurney retired, after a staggering 27 years with the English (& British) Chess Federation. I was appointed Office Manager, which leaves me with very big boots to fill - hopefully I will be up to the task.

Andrew Farthing is the new CEO as of the October AGM after Chris Majer decided it was time to hang up his gloves. We wish Andrew all the best in his new and demanding position. With the announcement that a new agreement with Holloid was not to be made, the Office said goodbye to Kirstie Lapworth, our former Chess for Schools co-ordinator. In addition, the Office itself has undergone further changes after relocating across the corridor into more compact but much sunnier premises.

- Tina Weddell, Office Manager

CHIEF EXECUTIVE'S REPORT

Two major developments cast a shadow over the ECF's activities during the past year: the news that the longstanding Government grant in support of elite chess was to cease in April 2011, and the ending of the ECF's involvement in the Chess for Schools project.

The Government grant, provided through the Department for Culture, Media and Sport, has supported the ECF's work - most notably in Junior and International chess - over many years. Given the pressure to reduce public sector spending across the board, the announcement that the grant was to end after the current financial year was not a surprise, although the Board had hoped for a longer transitional period before the grant was withdrawn completely.

In anticipation of the news, the Board implemented a number of cost-saving measures. The effect of these has been to minimise the impact of the loss of the grant, so that the ECF's activities should be able to continue more or less unchanged in the coming year. Treading water, however, is hardly a sufficient goal to which to aspire, and a key priority for the coming year is to achieve agreement on a revised funding basis for the Federation as a platform for future development. This is no small challenge, but there appears to be widespread recognition that it must be met.

The decision to end the ECF's involvement in the Chess for Schools project, the aim of which was to supply some 25,000 schools with free chess sets, was not easy. In the end, concerns over the ability of the ECF to play its part in supporting the programme following the necessary reduction in its office staff and over the delays in set production left the Board with no choice. That the project did not succeed is a cause of genuine regret. There are clearly lessons to be learned from the experience, but the scale of the opportunity was such that there is no shame in having tried.

Beyond these two developments, the past year was one of solid achievement, as documented in the various directors' reports elsewhere in this Yearbook.

The ECF depends to an enormous extent on the willingness of individuals to give their time and energy in support of English chess. There are some 50 volunteers working for the Federation in various capacities, and I should like to record my sincere appreciation and gratitude to them all.

I must single out for mention my predecessor as Chief Executive, Chris Majer. Despite the competing demands of a full-time day job, Chris gave dedicated service in the role throughout his tenure, always seeking to deal fairly and constructively with others in upholding the interests of chess players and the ECF.

Thanks are also due to the ECF office team - Tina Weddell, Christine Carcas and Andrew Walker - for their hard work and support during another challenging year. The Federation witnessed the departure of its long-serving office manager, Cynthia Gurney, in September 2010. Cynthia's contribution can hardly be overstated, and she will be sorely missed. I am pleased to record my personal thanks to Cynthia, who - along with her husband, Bob - was quite rightly made an Honorary Life Member of the Federation at the AGM in October.

Despite the events with which I started these reports, I remain positive about the future of the game and of the ECF. As I write these words, the top four English grandmasters are competing against the best in the world in the 2nd London Chess Classic, while at something more akin to my own modest level, enthusiasts in their dozens have been battling through Arctic conditions to play in weekend congresses in the snowbound North of England.

There is something indomitable about the game of chess and its practitioners which has entranced me, along with thousands of others across the country, for so long. It fuels my ambition to develop the game at every level.

I am enough of a pragmatist to know that at times success can only be built slowly, and I accept that the coming year is more about foundation-building than overnight transformation. The need to concentrate for a time on ensuring that the Federation has a robust platform from which to grow should not be mistaken for a lack of ambition. I hope and believe that we are at the start of a period of positive change, and I look forward to doing all that I can to support it.

- Andrew Farthing, Chief Executive

DIRECTORS' REPORTS FINANCE

Introduction

1. This report is split into two parts. Part 1 provides a commentary on the 2009-10 accounts. Part 2 provides a commentary on the current financial position of the ECF and includes a forward looking forecast for the 2010-11 financial year.

2009-10 Accounts

2. Key messages that can be drawn from the accounts are as follows:

- The ECF incurred a small deficit for the 2009-10 financial year.
- Reserves remain at a worryingly low level. The Board is taking ongoing action to secure the future financial stability of the ECF. However, the financial health of the ECF remains vulnerable to unexpected events.

3. Most areas of income and expenditure are in line with budgets and forecasts. However, significant items which may be of interest include:

- The accounts reflect the decision not to capitalise staff costs associated with the Certificate of Merit development. The effect of this treatment was to cause an overall deficit instead of a small surplus; and
- The British Championship made a small surplus in 2009-10.

Forward Look

4. After excluding the contingency of £5,000, included in the budget at April Council, we are currently forecasting an in-year surplus of £16,500 compared to a budgeted surplus of £16,050. This is less than the projected surplus announced at Council in October. The main reason for this is that we now have more accurate information about likely income and expenditure for the year. Other factors to note include:

- Following changes to the ECF's staffing structure as a result of the Office review, we expect to make a saving of £20,192 on staff costs and a further £2,225 on other administrative expenditure. This will be partially offset by a £15,000 decline in general income due to a reduction in the DCMS grant.
- We made a £3,000 surplus on the British Championship compared to a budgeted surplus of £2,000. The Board intends to keep this amount as a contingency to deal with unexpected events that could lead to future British Championships failing to break even.

5. As at the end of December 2010, we expect outturn for all other activities to be broadly in line with budgets approved in April.

- Gareth Caller, Director of Finance

Report from the Trustees of the John Robinson Trust

- 1) From the year to 31/08/10 the income of the trust was £25,562. Expenses were £3,353 including investment management fees of £2,610 and accountants fees and indemnity insurance
- 2) Accounts paid totalled £22,757 and includes £7,000 for the British Championships, £2,000 for the John Robinson Youth Fellowship, £3,000 for the ECF Junior Grand Prix, £1,310 to support the ECF representatives in the World Junior and the balance on individual grants and coaching

HOME

As an active player and organiser, what I expect from my governing body is that they raise money fairly, spend it wisely, and keep me informed about how it spent. As a Director of the ECF I have kept that in mind throughout the past year. We have achieved a great deal as a team this year - here are some of the highlights.

The British Championships, Canterbury

We have new ECF / British Championship Facebook and Twitter pages, an emailing list which we employed and which no doubt contributed to a very healthy entry.

There were valuable contributions to publicity from David Gilbert.

There was experimental but very successful live video of Andrew Martin's commentary from Dave Clayton, and a webcam.

We were grateful for sponsorship from Stagecoach.

ECF Grading and FIDE Rating

Howard Grist replaced Ray Ryan Foster as IRO in August.

Dave Thomas is now standing down from the post of Manager of Grading and Rating after a number of years. I should like to thank him for all his hard work and effort during that period, particularly in connection with the major revision of ECF grades which came into effect in 2009.

Counties Championships

After a tricky start, the Counties Championships were steered to a safe harbour by Cyril and Julie Johnson and their team (David Welch, Adrian Elwin, John Shaw, John Wickham, Peter Cresswell for their work as an arbiting team) at Moat College in Leicestershire. It was a successful event, with 58 entries over 7 sections. Adrian Elwin has been appointed as the National Controller for 2010-2011.

National Club Championships

Julie Johnson ran the NCC efficiently as usual, and received the ECF President's award this year. Julie has been reappointed Controller for the 2010-2011 event.

Thanks are also due to Guy Greenland & Mike McNaughton as section controllers in the Intermediate & Minor sections respectively. Brian Smith for organising the London end. There were six matches at the finals, and we maintained the number of entries this year.

County & District Correspondence Chess Championships

In the Ward-Higgs, the championship event, Sussex with 16/22 took the title for the first time in a decade by ½ point from Essex and defending champions Yorkshire. John Philpott is the controller

Counties Rapidplay and Handicap Championships

The SCCU successfully staged this event, with five teams competing, at Wanstead on 18th September. Essex I were the winners of the main event.

Winton Capital British Problem Solving Championships

The 31st Final of the British Chess Solving Championship, and the 7th sponsored by Winton Capital Management, took place at Oakham School on Saturday, 20th February 2010. Jonathan Mestel, scoring 57.75 out of a possible 65, won his seventeenth title, ahead of David Friedgood in second place, and Colin McNab in third place. The Open Championship, held alongside the closed British Championship and with the same problems to solve, was won by Piotr Mudzia of Poland (the current World Chess Solving Champion). Second place went to Dolf Wissmann of the Netherlands and well-known British junior player Ankush Khandelwal came third.

Adjudications Service

There was a long overdue rise in the cost of adjudications and consequently the amount paid to adjudicators for their work.

BUCA

We provided modest financial support for players to compete in the World Universities Team Championships in Zurich, Switzerland. Two boys (Peter Poobalasingam and Vedantha Kumar, both from North London) and two girls (Sarah Hegarty from Guildford and Hannah Dale from Lincoln) were chosen to represent Great Britain in this prestigious competition. Peter Poobalasingam (aged 21, Bath University) scored 4.5/9 and scored his second International Master norm.

Manager of Chess in Prisons

Sarah Mirawolski was appointed to this post late in the year.

Manager of Women's Chess

We appointed Ljubica Lazarevic to this post, and she immediately arranged financial support for two girls in the World Universities. She actively supported International Director Lawrence Cooper's efforts to organise women's events in Uxbridge and as part of the London Classic. In October, she stood aside to allow Sabrina Chevannes and Jovanka Houska to take over the post, and plans are already taking shape for an English Girls' Championship in 2011.

Other Developments

We finally launched Facebook and Twitter pages, and continued our increasing use of email to promote tournaments. The ECF Grand Prix continued with the sponsorship of CCF Mindgames, and we placed an enhanced list on the website in response to demand.

We introduced the National Master title to the Master Points Scheme and a new sponsor, ChessWorld.

CONCLUSION

My aims for 2010-2011 include a hope that I can;

- continue to support weekend congresses around the country in publicising their events.
- develop further enhancements to your grading services, including producing grading lists twice a year.
- support enterprises such as the 4NCL and e2-e4, and encourage more FIDE rated events
- promote and develop the National Club Championships and Counties events
- support the Chief Executive through what will be a difficult year.

JUNIOR

As last year I have sent in reports from the various events I have been involved in and but they are now brought all together in printed form. Many of these have already appeared on the web, in Chess Moves or The Right Move.

Junior Selection has continued as last year and will continue in the same format for 2011. We do, however, have a problem. More schools are refusing to allow pupils to miss more than a few days and I already know that some of our better players will not be available for selection in 2011 as both World and European Youth are totally outside school holidays. This also affects the other events which players can enter as well as the fact that older players often enter few if any events in their examination years. This is not a problem that other countries suffer from and they also seem to do at least as well academically as we do. Is there a lesson to be learnt?

At the end of September Cynthia retired from her position in the ECF Office and she will be sorely missed. I have found her help invaluable as I struggle to make sense of some missives that arrive from FIDE. I wish her well in her retirement. Tina has taken over her position and I look forward to working with her in the future. I feel sure she will rise to the challenge and keep me in line!

There are four major events for which I have to select players. The Glorney, Gilbert, Stokes and Robinson Cups (which are effectively the British Isles Championships) are reported on separately. Suffice it to say that I was immensely proud of the players who did turn out but a little disappointed with some who did not; to me it is an honour to represent your country and not just at World Youth level. We did win all four this year although, again, the two U18 ones were very close. We sent 7 players to the European Championships and the conditions were not ideal. Matthew Wadsworth was our best performer with 5½/9 coming 12th. James Holland was our only other player to top 50%. In fact, most Western European countries failed to attend. The World Championships saw 9 juniors attend and here we had 4 players over 50% and two on 50%, our best results for a while. Our top performer was Felix Ynojosa with 7½/11 and 8th place. Unfortunately he has had to return home to Venezuela. Yang Fan Zhou, Ravi Haria and Tarun Malhotra also topped 50% whilst the Wang sisters Maria and Anna scored 5½. The team we sent to the U16 Olympiad was hit by the fact that it was school term but the players who attended did us proud. We finished 3 places above our seeding after a hard last round whilst all players scored above their rating. Adrian Archer-Lock gained 81 rating points which was the best performance in the tournament.

I would like to finish by thanking all the organisers and parents who give freely of their time to help with junior chess. We could not cope without them.

- Peter Purland, Director of Junior Chess & Education

INTERNATIONAL

Since I took over from Stewart Reuben in October 2009 I have been involved in a number of international events starting with the 2009 European Team Championship in October 2009 and culminating in the 2010 Olympiad in Khanty-Mansiysk in September 2010. I have also been involved with two London Chess Classic Women's Internationals, World Junior, Uxbridge Women's International as well as helping to co-ordinate the England entries into the World & European Amateur and the European Club Cup.

The 2009 European Team Championship was held in Novi Sad, Serbia and despite England missing some key players both teams performed well and finished above their seeding. The open team was seeded 18th and finished 12th. The team consisted of Michael Adams, Luke McShane, Stuart Conquest, Simon Williams and Stephen Gordon.

Due to a shortfall in funding I agreed to captain the side. The women's team was captained and coached by Andrew Greet and consisted of Jovanka Houska, Ingrid Lauterbach, Natasha Regan, Meri Grigoryan and Sabrina Chevannes. The team were seeded 22nd and finished 17th. The return of Luke and Natasha to the teams were very welcome developments as were the debuts of Simon and Stephen.

The 2010 Olympiad was an organiser's nightmare. The venue in Khanty-Mansiysk Siberia presented a number of problems. Firstly, to travel to Khanty involved charter flights the times of which changed four times making it very hard to book connecting flights. I also had to contend with a frustrating wait to receive official invitations allowing me to apply for visas and finally there was the small matter of our hotel not being built weeks before the event. Having said all that I was pleased that we were able to field our top five of Michael Adams, Nigel Short, Luke McShane, David Howell and Gawain Jones. I was also pleased that 21-year-old Sarah Hegarty was selected to make her England debut in the women's team, along with Jovanka Houska, Ingrid Lauterbach, Meri Grigoryan and Kanwal Bhatia.

The event itself ran very smoothly; all players made it onto the charter and the hotel was built and dining arrangements were satisfactory. Despite some notable individual results including Michael Adams beating the world number one Magnus Carlsen the men's team finished below its seeding of 12th in 22nd place. The competition was especially fierce with five Russian teams playing and whilst the team did their best it is possible that the lack of a professional coach (I was once again the captain due to a lack of sponsorship) counted against the team who fought hard but without achieving the success that was hoped for. Of the five players Gawain Jones will be most satisfied with his performance scoring 6/8 and being close to a board medal. Whilst I was proud to again captain the team we really need to sponsorship so we can employ a professional coach to give us a better chance of fulfilling our potential.

The women performed above their 39th seeding finishing 21st. The team was captained by Andrew Greet and Sarah Hegarty had an outstanding debut scoring 7.5/9. Kanwal Bhatia also made an excellent return to the team scoring 6.5/9 and these performances swept the team to their highest Olympiad placing for some years.

The event of 2010 however had to be The London Chess Classic which was organised by Malcolm Pein. Held at the fantastic Olympia conference centre in Kensington, West London, the main event pitted England's top four players against four of the world's best; world champion Viswanathan Anand, Magnus Carlsen, Vladimir Kramnik, Hikaru Nakamura and Magnus Carlsen won the tournament but the English success story was Luke McShane who was undefeated and beat both Carlsen & Short to finish in second equal place with Anand. Gawain Jones and Simon Williams were joint winners of the open.

I also took charge of the English participation in the World Junior which was held in Poland in August 2010. Fifteen-year-old Yang-Fan Zhou played in the junior event and 19-year-old Anya Corke in the girls' event. Both were coached by Mark Hebden and financially supported by the John Robinson Trust and Junior Director. The event is a gruelling 13 rounds and so whilst Yang-Fan was ultimately disappointed to finish on 5.5/13 he had a strong start and gained enormous experience. It should be remembered that this is an Under 20 event and so I think his performance should be viewed positively and an important stage in his development as a player. Anya had an excellent result and finished 6th= with 8.5/13.

I also found time to organise three women's events that I part funded myself with the help of The John Robinson Trust and The Friends of Chess. These were aimed at giving younger English girls an opportunity to gain experience of playing against other women with a long-term view to producing players for the women's Olympiad team. The first event was held alongside the London Classic in December 2009 with our first ever-female IM Susan Lalic finishing in second place. The second was held alongside the e2e4 Uxbridge International in August 2010. The second event attracted five English players including Susan Lalic, as well as Sarah Hegarty, 18-year-old Lateefah Messam-Sparks, 17 year old Sheila Dines and 13 year old Amy Hoare. Amy had an outstanding tournament finishing equal 3rd with Sarah on 5.5/9. The event was won by Susan with Sarah & Amy finishing third equal. Finally, the third event was held alongside the 2010 London Chess Classic. Sarah Hegarty had a fine performance scoring 6/9 but narrowly missed out on a WIM norm after a loss in round 9 whilst Susan Lalic scored 5.5 and Amy Hoare had another successful event finishing with 4.

I would also like to mention Sean Hewitt's e2e4 organisation which organises a series of international events ranging from weekend to nine round events with titles norms. These continue to go from strength to strength and as well as giving players the chance to obtain norms and ratings they provide revenue to the ECF in terms of fees and new memberships.

- Lawrence Cooper, Director of International Chess

GRADING & RATING

After the tribulations of last season the production of the 2010 grading list was an extremely smooth process. That it was so is a tribute to those who do the work involved in its production: the various local graders, the database manager Richard Haddrell, the website manager Carl Hibbard, and last but not least Howard Grist as system programmer. The omission of the Manager of Grading from this list is not a matter of modesty, it is related to my minimal involvement in the process. Since this was due in part to a shortage of time, a situation which is unlikely to improve in the near future, I have indicated my intention of standing down from the post with effect from this meeting.

For the bulk of the year international rating was in the hands of Ryan Foster. He has now stepped down from the post and Howard Grist has resumed responsibility for the time being. My report to the Council meeting in October 2009 stated the intention of reviewing the manner in which the grading system treats foreign players who play an occasional tournament in this country. This review was not undertaken, and I leave it to my successor to determine whether such a review is desirable.

MARKETING

It proved possible to attract sponsorship from LV= for the Certificate of Merit Scheme so that the start-up cost for the federation was quite low. Early in 2010 I took on responsibility for this project as the director responsible. It has proven to be very time-consuming to get all the factors into place, but now there are three levels of certificates, two booklets, one DVD and other teaching aids available.

If you have never tried the tests, please access them on <http://www.certificateofmerit.org.uk/main.php>. Sample tests can be taken with no fee. The multiple choice tests are a lot of fun and educational, even for quite strong players. It is time to do your job and encourage individuals, schools and clubs to access the whole system. This will help popularise the game, raise standards and raise the income of the federation. Any new venture requires marketing and this one has been somewhat damaged by the Chess for Schools Chess Sets problem.

My thanks particularly to Chris Majer, Kirstie Lapworth, Andrew Martin, John Philpott, John Upham and Andrew Walker for their work on this project.

There was a TV programme on BBC4 first shown in December 2009 and several times since. I had high hopes of there being a one hour programme on BBC2 set around the British Championships to be broadcast this winter. However, as with so many TV projects, it fell through. The parents and children, who might have been involved, viewed the proposed format of the programme with deep suspicion. There are many reality TV programmes being shown these days, which will come back to haunt the participants in later years. I admire the sophistication of our possible participants.

It is just as difficult to obtain chess sponsorship as last year. It would be easy to view Brian Callaghan's successes with the Gibraltar Congress with envy, were it not for the fact that it comes under the umbrella of the ECF. There has been a change in attitude to chess patronage. This was sparked off by the London Chess Classic, the first edition of which was held in December 2009 under Malcolm Pein's leadership. It is very good news indeed that this was repeated this year.

One of the events of 2010 was the Staunton Memorial Press Conference and Dinner held at Simpson's on 8 September. Sponsored by Darwin Strategic, its prime objective was to raise funds for Anatoly Karpov's bid to become FIDE President, for the 2011 British Championships and two charities. It was organised by our President CJ De Mooi, Ray Keene and Barry Martin. It was a glittering affair, graced also by Garry Kasparov, many of our grandmasters and several of our players who have become successful in other fields. There were about 150 guests at the dinner and woefully inadequate time to meet up with all old friends. Now we know Karpov was not successful in his bid to become FIDE President. Usually ECF elections are not conducted with such venom. Last year I said that the new Board would have a much fresher appearance and be easier to market. My confidence has proven well-founded.

The great event of the year was The Second London Chess Classic which featured 8 of the world's strongest players. Luke McShane had a sparkling result. Gawain Jones and Simon Williams were joint winners of the FIDE Open. Thousands of people attended the event at Olympia. It provided an excellent opportunity to market the Certificate of Merit Scheme. A whole week of radio programmes were spawned in the wake of the event, a very welcome development indeed. Also, The Times published an eight-page supplement devoted to chess.

AWARDS

President's Award for Services to Chess - Julie Johnson

One nomination was received this year and the award is well deserved. Julie Johnson took up chess after meeting her future husband, Cyril Johnson. She has never professed to be a strong player. Her expertise lies in chess administration and hospitality. Initially she limited herself to setting up the Syston Chess Club. After this proved successful she assisted the Leicestershire contingent at the National Youth Chess Association, being elected in due course as Chairman of that organisation.

In Leicestershire Julie took over as Grading Officer in 1992 and started a local Newsletter, combining that with her work on the local league committee and running as many as 3 County Under-100 teams in the Midlands. She acted as President of the Leicestershire and Rutland Chess Association from 1998 - 2000, the first Lady President of that organisation.

She was then persuaded to take over producing the Newsletter for the Midland Counties Chess Association which she undertook for the next 5 years, turning it from a printed missive to one which is available online on the MCCU website. When Lee Collier resigned as the MCCU's Chief Executive Officer, she combined that post with her editorial duties, whilst standing down from the newsletter production.

Nationally Julie was a member of the old British Chess Federation Board, where her expertise in matters relating to Value Added Tax was invaluable. Gradually she took over as Minutes Secretary with the English Chess Federation Board, taking pride in ensuring that her minutes were available to the Chief Executive Officer within 7 days. She also found time to assist the ECF when a Controller of the Counties Championship resigned, taking over in mid-event. In more recent times she has organised a Section of the National Club Tournament and then returned as Chief Controller of that event.

All this pales into insignificance against her reputation for laying on a stellar spread for Leicestershire county matches and acting as hostess for counties seeking a neutral venue. She has matched this by doing all the catering for several National Finals, her swansong being that at Moat College, Leicester, in 2010

Club of the Year - Horsham Chess Club

Horsham's Citation

Horsham Chess Club celebrated its 130th anniversary this year and in recognition of its current success and its long standing services to club, county and community chess it is honoured to apply for the English Chess Federation title of club of the year 2010. This document is supported by a copy of "The History of Horsham Chess Club 1879 - 2009" and "The 130th Anniversary Celebrations" album.

Horsham has had a very successful season in 2009-2010 managing the rare double of winning both the knockout and the division 1 championship of the Sussex wide Mid Sussex League. We are rightly proud of this success but equally we have a commitment to chess at all levels. We were honoured to be the first club to propose fielding six teams in the Mid Sussex League and our long standing commitment to juniors extends beyond the junior section of the club to decades long commitment to cub chess. We are also pleased to include a number of juniors who have represented England.

The club has also made a substantial contribution to Sussex County Chess with one player creating an unparalleled record of playing more than 450 county games and record numbers of Horsham players contributing to Sussex success. We also enjoy a great amount of internal club competitions comprising three all-play-all competitions, a knockout and plate, a quick play knockout and plate, a ten second lightning tournament and an invitational competition for members who just want more!

This season we had a number of additional activities to celebrate our 130th anniversary. These included a reception and a match against representatives of other Sussex teams, a full day playing all comers at the bandstand in the centre of Horsham, an exhibition at the celebrated Horsham Museum and a group visit to the London Chess Classic.

This citation highlights some of the achievements that make our members so proud to be part of the club. It will provide a flavour of the current activities alluding to our long standing contribution to chess as a whole but the greatest success of our club is its warm, welcoming atmosphere.

Above all we are pleased to appeal to all members of the community and are proud that our membership includes an age range of 7 to 90

Small Club of the Year - St Helens

St Helens' Citation

St Helens Chess Club meets throughout the year at the Sprayhurst Social Club in St Helens. We have 22 members and play in the Warrington and District Chess League and the Richard Furness 500 League. There are also a few non-members who attend from time to time, who we hope will join subsequently when they feel comfortable. All members who regularly represent the club in matches are ECF members.

Although we currently only have 22 members, graded from 186 down to 20, this season we entered 3 league teams and 4 cup teams in the Warrington and District Chess League (requiring a minimum 15 players) and 2 teams in the Richard Furness 500 League (requiring a minimum of 8 players). The Warrington League teams are split using a traditional grading strength criterion, but the Richard Furness 500 League teams have a grading cap of 500 points for 4 players. This helps to create a good social mix between the highest and lowest graded players and is very influential in creating a team spirit and camaraderie in the club that we are all very proud of.

This season we had an excellent performance once again finishing 1st in the Richard Furness 500 League and we won the Peninsular Cup for the first time. This is the most prestigious cup competition in the Warrington and District Chess League and we're very proud to have won this competition.

The club continues throughout the summer after the league season has ended, when we run an 8 round ECF graded Swiss tournament in June and July to decide our club champion. We would normally expect an absolute minimum of 15 of our members to play in this tournament, which again helps to merge the players from different teams. The spirit that we have created within the club is also evident throughout the season when A-Team players turn out to watch C-Team matches and vice-versa, something that we are noticing is becoming less common amongst other clubs.

On non-match nights our head-coach (who has an enhanced CRB clearance) conducts training sessions. This can take many forms, be it demo-board analysis, individual or group work, a selection of positions spread across the playing hall, or consultation games.

We have no formal policies relating to junior members apart from them being accompanied by an adult. We are very proud of our juniors as both returned from the British at Torquay with a first placed finish.

Club members also support the local congresses and can regularly be found at the more local congresses, but sometimes also at those congresses that require travel and an overnight stay. One of our members is the Assistant Cheshire & North Wales Junior Organiser and organises the Cheshire and North Wales Junior Championship. Our head-coach provides chess puzzle sheets to entertain the juniors between rounds at this event.

Our members also help administer the Warrington and District Chess League. Currently the positions of Match Secretary, Publicity Secretary and Webmaster are carried out by St Helens Chess Club members. Moving away from the competitive side of chess to the more social side of the club, we have a social membership category for those who do not want to play chess competitively and arrange non-competitive activities and training. This has included Christmas Fun nights where for example, pieces took on random properties during the game, and a more relaxed week after the 8 rounds of the club championship. We generally have at least half a dozen members turn up on match nights who are not playing in the match.

We also have a website, www.sthelenschessclub.co.uk, which members use to keep each other informed about recent and forthcoming events, share games, etc. When asking first time visitors how they found out about us, the majority said it was through this website.

BOOK OF THE YEAR AWARD 2010

Shortlist

Attacking Manuals 1 and 2 by Jacob Aagaard

Quality Chess

Volume 1 £23.99; Volume 2 £23.99

With the publication of volume 2 the author completes a project which has taken him 7 years to complete and as he writes, "fulfilled a personal ambition". These comprehensive volumes are one of the few that can compare favourably with Dvoretsky's manuals. This is a volume which is intended for the serious student. An excellent innovation is the provision of study positions before the main body of the text discusses them so the reader obtains maximum benefit from his efforts. But the book can also be enjoyed as a wonderful collection of attacking games and positions. The lay out and presentation is excellent.

Champions of the New Millennium by Lubomir Ftacnik, Danny Kopec, Walter Browne

Quality Chess pp 449

£19.99

Described in the blurb as "the ideal guide to who's who in modern chess" this substantial volume is just that: the eighteen best chess players in the world split between established stars and the players likely to dominate in the next decade with Judit Polgar and Gata Kamsky making up the numbers. Each player has a chapter outlining their history, an analysis of their playing style and four of their best games deeply annotated. The experienced authors have shared the work between them. Beautifully produced with (as so often with Quality Chess) numerous exceptional photographs, this volume is a fine introduction to the leading players of our time.

Chess Duels - My Games with the World Champions by Yasser Seirawan

Everyman Chess pp425

£20.00

The basis of the book is as described: very personal annotations of the 40 games Seirawan played between 1989 and 2000 against the world champions in which he scored a very creditable 181/2 points out of 40. However the book is much more than that, as the author discusses the history of the world championship over the last 20 or so years with many shrewd observations on the personalities he met along the way. Written in a relaxed style this book is an easy read, not something that can be said about many chess books. The hard back volume is beautifully produced and printed by Everyman.

Nunn's Chess Endings Volume 1 by John Nunn

Gambit pp319

£17.99

In this volume, which concentrates on endings without rooks, Nunn analyses what he calls "concrete endings" i.e. those where the outcome can be determined by precise calculation. The examples are instructive and often illustrate that the normal endgame "rules" e.g. outside passed pawn wins, do not always apply. A basic knowledge of chess endings is assumed but anyone with that background cannot fail to improve his endgame play by studying this book, which is also a valuable contribution to endgame theory.

ECF Book of the Year 2010

The judges this year were faced with a particularly difficult choice as all the four books listed had considerable, but differing merits. The choice finally fell on a two volume work which had taken the author no less than eight years to write.

The book is 'Attacking Chess Volumes 1 and 2' by Jacob Aagaard, published by Quality Chess at £23.99 each. These constitute a substantial work totalling 720 pages in all, excellently laid out and printed. The volumes are written in a lively manner, which keeps the reader entertained as well as interested.

The genesis of the book is found in the introduction to Volume 1. Aagaard felt that the role of intuition had been undervalued in chess writing. Good players not only calculate but also have a feeling for what might be possible in a given position, which can be described as intuition. Aagaard also felt that there was a shortage of good books on attacking play - by which he means attacking the King. There are many excellent titles on combinations, but Aagaard is looking for the conditions when an attack may be possible (King in the middle is an obvious example) and how that attack may be prepared and prosecuted. In other words Aagaard is trying to develop the reader's attacking intuition.

Volume 2 is, in the words of the author, "what to do when the attack is up and running".

Whilst doing this, Aagaard introduces new concepts and ideas into the text. To help in this process he gives preview diagrams of the positions to be discussed, which the reader is invited to consider before reading on, a valuable learning tool.

The author has obtained the games and positions for both volumes from a wide range of contemporary sources, many of which were new to the judges. It is also clear that throughout Aagaard has provided fresh commentary and analysis. The reader can simply enjoy the many fascinating positions or study in depth, but either way there are many hours of pleasure to be found in these two books.

Aagaard has written a significant and original treatise on the fine art of attacking play and is a worthy winner of the Book of the Year 2010.

HONORARY LIFE MEMBERS - CYNTHIA AND ROBERT GURNEY

At the end of September Cynthia retired from the ECF Office after 27 years of service. In my time of attending ECF meetings Cynthia has been the "office" to me and I recall my predecessor from Norfolk, Peter Burnett, praising her and of how well she ran the BCF office.

Cynthia has been the Manager of Finance and Management Services for BCF and ECF. During her time BCF/ECF has weathered many crises mainly due to the support and hard work of Cynthia. She was instrumental in the English Chess library being established in the University of Hastings and she is involved in the John Robinson Trust.

The award of Honorary Life Member for Cynthia was made in recognition of her years of loyal service to the BCF and ECF as well as the work she has done in addition to the day job of Office Manager. However, this is not just an award for Cynthia, as she has been supported by her husband Robert throughout her time in the ECF Office. Robert has also been active in supporting and organising chess in the Hastings area. He has forged links with the local MPs and has been active in supporting the Hastings Congress.

Congress of the Year 2010

We selected e2e4

e2e4 has fast obtained a reputation as being the best tournaments in the country. Why? Well maybe it's because in the last 12 months e2e4 chess has:-

- had 49,949 website hits
- had 654 players enter an e2e4 tournament, including 12 GM's, 10 IM's and 13 FM's
- submitted 3586 'half' games of chess for grading
- Paid out over £10,000 in prize money
- helped 85 players get their first FIDE rating or part rating
- facilitated three players to score IM norms

But it's more than that. e2e4 give amateur chess players professional standard playing conditions. Every game is played on a separate table, with a minimum of 5m<sup>2</sup> room for each game within the playing area. And, uniquely for an English weekend event, players can stay onsite in a 3/4 star hotel for little more than the cost of a local B&B.

We don't expect anyone to take just our word for it. This is what some players have said to us when they've emailed us after one of our events in the last 12 months :-

Impeccably organised and run with attention to every detail, the whole circuit of 'e2e4 Chess' tournaments really are unsurpassed for both amateurs and professionals alike. Win or lose, I always come away from these events not only having enjoyed myself socially but also with the feeling that chess playing has been treated with the respect that it deserves.

- GM Keith Arkell, 27 June 2010

Increasingly other congresses pale into insignificance when compared with the ones e2e4 organise.

- SH, 26 February 2010

I just wanted to express my thanks and appreciation for all your hard work in organising and running such an enjoyable tournament at the weekend. I'm reluctant these days to spend what little free time I have freezing to death in draughty church halls that smell of mildew, so it was a great pleasure to be able to play chess in such comfortable surroundings. I had a great time and very much hope to take part in more of your events in the future.

- NS, 21 September 2009

Just a short line to say how much I enjoyed the Uxbridge congress at the weekend. This was my first event for around 28 years and I am sure I will make every effort to enter another one of your events.

- JM, 21 September 2009

Many thanks to you and the organisers for putting on such a well run event. It was my first congress and a truly great and memorable experience.

The venue and facilities were superb.

- AW, 21 September 2009

This was the first time I had played Uxbridge, but it's the best weekend tournament I've played in. I'm going to play every congress you run from now on!

- AS, 20 September 2009

Website of the Year 2010

2010 Once again we received several nominations and all of a high standard. The standard and quality of the websites improves each year making the committees job in selecting one a difficult one as we do not wish to disappoint the other excellent websites that make our shortlist.

The one that impressed us this year is <http://www.kingstonchess.org.uk/>, the website of Kingston Chess Club. It was the general feel of the website providing information as well as comment and news in an entertaining way. The webmaster is John Foley

CHESS SERVICE PROVIDERS

ECF ARBITERS

In addition to arbiter qualifications, all ECF arbiters are required to:

- 1) Hold an Enhanced CRB Clearance which is less than three years old;
- 2) Be a member of the English Chess Federation.

Further information on the regulations and qualifications concerning the appointment of ECF arbiters can be found on the ECF website: www.englishchess.org.uk. The ECF arbiters below have satisfied the ECF arbiter requirements as at 31st December 2010.

The process of confirming CRB clearance is ongoing. The most up-to-date list of ECF arbiters can be found on the ECF website, which is updated regularly as more ECF arbiters are appointed.

How to become an Arbiter

The stages are that you need to attend a course for arbiters, pass the exam, and gain experience at a variety of events. At some of these, you will be assessed by a senior arbiter who, with the arbiter who has worked with you most, will then recommend your name to go to the Chief Arbiter.

If he is satisfied with the reports and you are an ECF Member, your name will then be placed before the ECF Board who will, if they are satisfied, appoint you as an ECF arbiter, subject to you obtaining an Enhanced CRB clearance, for which at this point, the ECF will pay.

If the Arbiter is listed as an ECF Arbiter, he/she will have been cleared at Enhanced CRB level during the three years prior to the publication of the list. Mickey also wins the English Championship and holds the Tony Miles Trophy for one year

IM Jovanka Houska, British Women's Champion 2010

The BRITISH CHESS CHAMPIONSHIPS 2010

The 2010 British Chess Championships took place from 25 July to 7 August 2010 at the University of Kent in Canterbury, the first time the event had been held in the SCCU since Hove 1997. Congratulations to Mickey Adams (who last took the title at Hove) who won the 2010 British Championship (and is also English champion) with a score of  $9\frac{1}{2}/11$  and a 2757 performance. Adams was clearly a class above the rest of the field, winning his first five games to go a point clear, and finishing unbeaten. A close fight for second place was decided in the final round when Nick Pert defeated Stephen Gordon to finished on 8 with a 2612 performance whilst Stuart Conquest, Andrew Greet, Jonathan Hawkins, Adam Hunt, Richard Pert & Alexei Slavin all finished equal third on  $7\frac{1}{2}$ .

Congratulations to Adam Hunt who secured his 2nd GM norm with a 2624 performance over eleven rounds. Rafal Tymrakiewicz achieved a 9 round IM norm.

Jovanka Houska finished on  $6\frac{1}{2}$  and is the British (and English) women's champion, ahead of Lateefah Messam-Sparks who scored  $4\frac{1}{2}$  and becomes British Girls Under 18 champion with a 2082 performance and Sheila Dines who finished with  $3\frac{1}{2}$ .

The Alexander Best Game prize was awarded to Richard Pert for his round 10 victory over Thomas Rendle

The Championship was complemented by the full normal range of supporting events took place with a total of 891 competitors participating. Extra curricular activities included Kevin Staveley's ever popular murder mystery evening and quiz, with the latter being won for the second year running by the East Saxons team, captained by Essex's Colin Ramage. Special mention must go to the ECF Cricket XI, captained by Andrew Martin, which in its 29th annual match recorded a rare victory by six wickets against the University of Kent staff. The ECF's total of 218-4 included an unbeaten 91 by Sivakumar.

On the final day, ECF President CJ de Mooi announced that for the 2011 Championships at Ponds Forge, Sheffield, the old prize structure would be reinstated with a £10,000 first prize. Adams, Short, McShane and Howell had all agreed to play, and a further 10GMs had indicated their willingness to play, making this potentially the strongest British Championships ever. To encourage participation, the entry fee for juniors will be halved.

English Counties Championships 2009/2010

The County Championships Final Stages ended as last year's, at Moat College in a heat wave! We were again fortunate to obtaining the services of Sir Peter Soulsby M.P., the member for Leicester South in whose constituency the College is found. His opening speech was the epitome of brevity, wit and awareness of the game of chess. We are grateful for his support of the ECF and its campaign to restore the cuts imposed by the DCMS.

Back to the actual games. In the Open, Lancashire made their traditional pilgrimage to the Finals, and defeated a very strong Sussex team 11-5. An excellent result in the circumstances.

The Minor Counties saw Hertfordshire come with their trophy and defend it successfully against Middlesex 10-6. The newer grading bands threw up some interesting matches. An all-Midlands match saw Warwickshire clash with Nottinghamshire in a match with no fewer than 8 draws, Warwickshire getting home by 9-7.

Yorkshire were again defending their County 3rd team trophy in the U160s against Suffolk. The East Anglians defeated their higher rated opponents by 9½- 6½.

The U140s was the closest match of all, with Hampshire drawing 8-8 with Nottinghamshire, another match with 8 draws with Hampshire winning on board count.

The U120s was an all SCCU affair, with the men of Kent defeating Hertfordshire 8½- 3½ in a match which ended surprisingly quickly. The "new" U100 saw a weakened Warwickshire team succumb to Essex, also 8½- 3½.

I must thank David Welch, Adrian Elwin, John Shaw and John Wickham for their quiet work as a very good arbiting team. Peter Cresswell worked tirelessly in the back ground, and we thank him. Julie Johnson excelled herself in providing food and drinks for all present.

I took this task on at the request of some friends to prevent the changes of controller having a deleterious effect on this event. I told Adam Raoof that I would do this for one year, and so I walk away, accompanied by Julie. I will offer help and advice to anyone who seeks to take this most rewarding of jobs on, but warn that from the end of March to early July, they must make themselves available for queries, contacts and to act as the successor to Solomon. My thanks to Julie for putting up with this, and to my friends who attended the finals, and to Moat College for their help

National Club Championships 2009/2010

Once again the finals were split between London & the Midlands, with Brian Smith organising venue & refreshments at Golden Lane Community Centre in London, and Syston & District Social Club organised by the Chief Controller.

Wanstead & Woodford retained the Major Championship, but not without a valiant fight from Maidstone. It appeared early on as if Wanstead were cruising to victory as their team was stronger than Maidstone on 4 of the 5 boards. But a win on board 3 by Maidstone suddenly turned the tide, if Maidstone could win on board 2 they would win the match on board count. Maidstone started to get a slight positional edge, but Oliver Gill ran very short on time and had to settle for a draw - giving the match win to Wanstead.

The Major Plate saw Metropolitan overcome fellow London Leaguers Athenaeum, without losing a game. This feat was emulated by Bedford, who denied Snodland a second successive winning trip to the capital in the Intermediate Championship.

The Intermediate Plate was in contrast a much closer affair, only settled in favour of Hackney on board count. The Hackney win was remarkable because their average grading of 118 was significantly lower than the 144 of opponents Bushbury. But for the grading of the Hackney top board, the team would have been eligible for the Minor section.

The Intermediate Champions

The Minor Championship final has been a cause of much consternation, with Chipping Campden only able to raise 3 players from their small club, too many players having booked their holidays - perhaps lacking confidence in the team reaching the finals? Already down a board from the start, the Cotswold side could only muster a draw, leaving Hastings & St Leonard's comfortable winners. As the current rules fail to address this situation, there is currently much deliberation over rule amendments to clarify matters for next season.

Forest of Dean out-graded their opponents in the Minor plate, but were quickly a board down to Bushbury when their board 3 overlooked the fact that Queen could be pinned to King. They failed to recover from this early shock, with Bushbury winning 3-1 without losing a board & thus gaining compensation for their narrow loss in the Intermediate.

My thanks to Brian Smith for organizing the Southern venue; and to Cyril Johnson for acting as arbiter and assistant sandwich maker. Thanks are also due to Guy Greenland & Mike McNaughton as section controllers in the Intermediate & Minor sections respectively.

TOURNAMENTS

85th Hastings International Chess Congress

The 85th Hastings International Chess Congress drew to a close on 5th January 2010 at Horntye Park Sports Complex, Hastings. The closing ceremony was attended by Cllr. Maureen Charlesworth, Rt. Worshipful the Mayor of Hastings, Cllr. Peter Pragnell, Leader of Hastings Borough Council and prospective Conservative candidate Amber Rudd.

The Congress attracted players from 23 countries - including a Masters player from Iraq. The number of entries was similar to last year at 452. Organisers were pleased to see a number of new faces, who all expressed their hope to return for the 86th Congress. The Masters Tournament was a strong event and provided some interesting play, watched by a daily audience attending to listen to grandmaster Chris Ward's live commentary. Games were also followed by an international audience via the internet - nine games were broadcast daily. The Christmas and New Year events provided an opportunity for unrated players to enjoy competitive chess, some for the first time. The 27th Weekend Congress was won by Hastings' Ambassador for Sport, International Master Thomas Rendle. Thomas' family home remains in Hastings although he is away much of the time studying and pursuing his chess career.

Thanks must, once again, go to Hastings Borough Council for their continuing support without which the Congress would not continue. Invaluable additional sponsorship was given by the White Rock Hotel who provided accommodation for leading players. The Congress also wishes to thank The Pig in Paradise, Gwalia Resources, Deutsch UK and KC Computers for their support. The Congress ran without incident and, luckily, without snow. The venue at Horntye Park is ideal, having adequate space to accommodate all tournaments, commentary and catering under one roof. A large-screen TV broadcasting cricket (from South Africa) and other international sports provided light relief for the players between games!

Luckily, most players left Hastings immediately after the prizegiving on 5th January, but snow hampered a quick getaway for those leaving on 6th - many of whom were travelling by road and rail to the North of England and Scotland, and overseas by air. The 86th Hastings International Chess Congress will take place on the 28th December 2010 through to the 5th January 2011. ## Gibtelecom Masters 2010

Congratulations to England's Mickey Adams who won the tournament after a rapidplay play-off between the top 4 highest placed players on tie-break. There was a massive tie on 7.5/10 involving Mickey, Etienne Bacrot, Sergei Movsesian, Francisco Vallejo Pons, Gata Kamsky, Jan Gustafsson, Chanda Sandipan, Geetha Narayanan Gopal & Alex Lenderman. The top four on tie-break then played a semi-final and final with Mickey overcoming Gustafsson in an armageddon game after winning the 2nd game to tie the match at 1-1. He then defeated Vallejo 1.5-0.5 in the final, winning a controlled first game with white before achieving a winning position in game 2 which although it got messy towards the end was still in Mickey's favour and he could have easily played on but was naturally happy to repeat moves and therefore win the match in an ending with an extra piece for a couple of pawns. Aside from Mickey, the leading English scores were as follows: Jon Speelman finished on 7/10, Jovanka Houska 6 and

Terry Chapman, Chris Fegan and Anthony Stebbings 5.5. Congratulations also to Philip Tozer who defeated GM Ketevan Arakhamia with black in Round 5

A lively first masterclass is a great success!

Jovanka Houska, the reigning Ladies British Chess Champion, and Tania Sachdev, a former India Ladies Champion, participated in the first Masterclass of the tournament in the newly built Archie Suite on Wednesday, which was again broadcast live on the internet.

Hosted by GM Stuart Conquest, it was a packed house of chess enthusiasts who followed with interest the lively session, where each player showed one of their games from the tournament

The new 4NCL website - <http://www.4ncl.co.uk/>

4NCL 2010-2011 1st weekend 6-7 November by Lawrence Cooper

Following the successful reintroduction of the rapidplay event in October the 4NCL proper hosted its first weekend of the 2010-11 season with Divisions 1 and 2 at the Barcelo Hotel in Daventry and the nearby Staverton Park accommodating Division 3. The two hotels are just over 3 miles apart so reporters and captains were just about able to keep an eye on both venues.

Divisions 1 and 2 are again divided into two pools of eight teams with the top four in each qualifying for the championship/promotion pool and the bottom 4 finishing the season in the relegation pool. This gives eight teams the opportunity to avoid relegation in the first 7 rounds but also rules out eight teams from promotion and the battle for European Club Cup places (23 Sep - 1 Oct 2011 in Rogaska Slatina, Slovenia).

Pool A in Division 1 is headed by Pride & Prejudice and Barbican who are big favourites to qualify along with probably Betsson and one team from Cheddleton, The ADS and Wood Green 2. Having now jinxed all those teams I can report that the most significant result in terms of qualifying was Betsson's 5.5-2.5 win over Wood Green 2 with wins for Andrew & Dave Ledger and Laurence Webb in round 1. The second weekend sees Cheddleton playing WGHK 2 and Betsson in two matches that will decide who will be best placed to qualify.

Pride and Prejudice powered to a 6-2 win over Cheddleton and 7-1 against The ADS although a surprise win for Staffordshire's Darren Wheeler over Mark Hebden prevented the whitewash. Mention should also be made of Jonathan Hawkins's draw with black pieces against Sergei Tiviakov. Barbican and Betsson also started with two match victories whilst Cheddleton and The ADS both have one match victory each.

In Pool B the defending champions WGHK1 started impressively with comfortable wins against Sambuca Sharks and Cambridge University. In terms of individual results though 18-year-old James Adair holding Stephen Gordon to a draw in round 1 was the stand out individual result along with Sam Williams defeat of Mohamed Tissir. Guildford and White Rose are both expected to qualify for the championship pool and although White Rose were significantly outrated by Guildford they secured an impressive 5½-2½ victory in round 2 (see below).

Guildford A&DC 1 (2408) - White Rose 1 (2282) 2½-5½
161 w Brunner, Nicolas m 2462 ½ - ½ McNab, Colin A g 2445
162 b Cuenca Jimenez, Jose Fernando m 2490 0 - 1 Palliser, Richard JD m 2445
163 w Kosten, Anthony C g 2513 0 - 1 Buckley, Simon T 2345
164 b Conquest, Stuart C g 2529 1 - 0 Gourlay, Iain f 2367
165 w Berzinsh, Roland m 2427 0 - 1 Townsend, M Paul 2246
166 b Garrido Dominguez, Jesus m 2410 1 - 0 Croad, Nicolas f 2297
167 w Povah, Nigel E m 2336 0-1 Gayson, Peter M 2184
168 b Grigoryan, Meri wf 2099 0- 1 Messam-Sparks, Lateefah w 1928

Amongst the many impressive performances were Simon Buckley who defeated Tony Kosten with black and Lateefah who beat Meri Grigoryan.

The remaining place is wide open although Cambridge secured an important victory over Oxford whilst e2e4 surprised Barbican 2 with victories on boards 5-7. Oxford also narrowly defeated Sambuca Sharks despite victories for James Adair and Sam Williams.

After two rounds WGHK1 and White Rose have two match victories with Sambuca and Barbican 2 both surprisingly yet to get off the mark. E2e4 play both Cambridge and Oxford at the second weekend after which we'll probably have a better idea of who is best placed to qualify.

Pool A of Division 2 looks set to be a hard fought section and after 2 rounds only one team, South Wales Dragons, emerged with two match wins. Five teams follow with 2 and two teams have 1 match point. The surprise result of the weekend was Jutes of Kent, led by Simon Williams, who suffered a surprise defeat to Barbican Youth. There was also a hard fought match between the two Welsh teams in round 1 which South Wales Dragons won, aided by their two IMs on boards 1 and 2.

Pool B also looks like being very hard fought and three of the weekend's 8 matches ended in 4-4 draws. Bristol are the only team with maximum match points after wins against Kings Head and Sambuca Black Sheep. Guildford 2 and Poisoned Pawns are both on 3 match points whilst Sambuca and 3Cs are both yet to get off the mark.

Division 3 is always a league where early predictions, especially mine, are normally way off the mark. There are 36 teams competing in a swiss. It is always interesting to seek out star names in the league and arguably Sussex Smart Controls, who have the luxury of being able to field Amy Hoare on board 6, stand out.

There are several strong squads though which outrate them and Brown Jack and Braille Chess Association (led by IM Colin Crouch) fielded the highest average rating and both started with 2 match wins as did Celtic Tigers, Icen, Oxford 2 & Guildford 3 whilst UCL & FCA Solutions 2 are on 3 match points.

The 4NCL Northern League was also launched on the same weekend at the Barcelo Redworth Hall near Darlington. It featured eight teams with the early pace setters being Bradford DCA Knights, Cheddleton and Spirit of Atticus with Holmes Chapel and Jorvik on 2 match points.

On behalf of the league I would like to thank all three hotels for providing excellent venues and playing facilities. The second weekend takes place on the 15th & 16th January at the exotically named Hinckley Island Barcelo Hotel. All three Divisions will be played at the same venue. The northern league will take place at De Vere Wychwood Park near Crewe

The 2nd LONDON CHESS CLASSIC - a daily report from John Saunders, LCC Press Chief

The press conference and drawing of lots took place at midday on Tuesday 7th December 2010 in the Olympia Conference Centre. Heading the line-up is the world chess champion, Viswanathan Anand from India; the teenage sensation Magnus Carlsen from Norway; and Anand's immediate predecessor as champion, Vladimir Kramnik from Russia. Completing the field are former US Champion Hikaru Nakamura, Michael Adams, Nigel Short and Britain's two most promising young grandmasters, Luke McShane 26, and David Howell, who like Carlsen will be just 20 at the start of the tournament.

The inaugural 2009 London Chess Classic was so good, with so many positive, entertaining games, that the superstitious and/or pessimistic amongst us couldn't help worrying that 2010 couldn't be as good. Was 2009 beginner's luck? Would the players go on strike, play some boring Petroffs and draw all their games?

Round 1

Good news: so far things in 2010 are as good as in 2009. Positivity is alive and well and producing decisive encounters at London's Olympia Conference Centre, with only one game of the first four drawn and that one going down to the wire. But that's not to say we didn't have some changes of script. Far from it! As we left things last year, Magnus Carlsen and David Howell were the two big success stories, the former winning the tournament and zooming to the top of the rating list, while David Howell sailed through the event, finishing a superlative third despite his status as lowest rated player. Neither lost a game in 2009. But what a difference a year makes: in 2010, both are carefree teenagers no longer. David Howell is a university student while Magnus Carlsen is a part-time fashion model. Twenty is evidently a difficult age as the two young men both looked out of sorts in round one and lost.

A quick resumé of the games: David Howell tried to build a 'Berlin Wall' though, architecturally, this was a 'pre-Kramnik' version of the sturdy edifice which Vladimir Kramnik first erected in this same borough of London to keep out 'Big Bad Wolf' Kasparov in their 2000 world championship match. David admitted to the commentary room that he had not played this particular line of the Berlin Ruy Lopez before but had looked at it some weeks before. Mickey wasn't prepared for it but found a playable line which offered him an edge. The GM pundits reckoned that 14...Nd3 was the first wrong step for Howell and he was gracious enough to plead guilty to all charges when brought before the trial judges in the commentary room. "I expected Mickey to play 15 Re3!", he confessed to the audience. Giving up the b-pawn and getting the rook onto the third rank supercharged the white attack on the queenside. Mickey thought 16...Ba6 might have been better than 16...Bxg5 but after that most of the assembled experts regarded Howell's position as unsalvageable. "I had given up and was just trying to keep a straight face at the board," admitted David Howell, to the laughter of the large audience

"I played strategically and got mated," said a whimsical Nigel Short of the final stage of his loss to Vlad Kramnik. Nigel has had some splendid results with old-fashioned 1 e4 e5 openings over the years (including a good win against French star Laurent Fressinet at the Olympiad) but he made little impression on the former world champion, who built up a solid positional advantage based on his central pawns. Eventually an e-pawn thrust cut Short's position in half, separating his queen from his vulnerable king, and Kramnik conjured up a powerful kingside offensive to kill the white king. Short tried a few defensive alternatives in the commentary room and let out an audible expression of pain as Kramnik announced a particularly vicious refutation of his idea.

Hikaru Nakamura also played a 'Berlin Wall' but this was the standard Kramnik recipe used to tranquillise Garry Kasparov (should we call it the Hammersmith variation?). The world champion of the year 2000 couldn't break it down so maybe his successor a decade on would also find it tough. Vishy was playing his first chess game in Britain for 16 years but he looked very composed as he set about grinding out an endgame win. English GMs Jon Speelman and John Nunn were practically salivating at the prospect of a long-distance endgame. Vishy Anand is another person who can remember when endgames really were endgames (with those strange rituals called adjournments, sealed moves and resumptions which Magnus, Hikaru and co will be blissfully unaware of), but in the end he couldn't break down Hikaru's rugged resistance. Yesterday Hikaru wasn't best pleased with his tournament draw - Black versus Anand, Kramnik (tomorrow) and Carlsen (in round 4), but the upside of this equation becomes apparent if he succeeds in toughing it out with the big guys - it leaves him with some whites against the others. Maybe things are looking up for the American.

Scores after round 1: Michael Adams, Luke McShane, Vladimir Kramnik 3 points; Vishy Anand, Hikaru Nakamura 1 point; David Howell, Magnus Carlsen, Nigel Short (Note, games are scored 3 points for a win, 1 point for a draw and 0 points for a loss)

Round 2

England's Luke McShane is the sole leader of the 2010 London Chess Classic after beating Nigel Short in a complicated tactical struggle. Two points behind him is America's Hikaru Nakamura who scored a great win against former world champion Vladimir Kramnik.

The Sicilian Dragon is one of the sharpest openings on a chess board and that was the chosen line for Luke McShane against Nigel Short - unusually so, because Luke is not a regular Dragon player. As always with this opening, it soon became highly tactical and mind-bendingly complicated. At one point Nigel appeared to be a couple of moves away from a big kingside mating attack but, when he came to calculate variations, he found Luke had counterstrokes against his major ideas. Looking at the game later with computers, it seemed that the obvious 22 Rxf5 might have succeeded had it been followed up correctly but, in time pressure, he tried 22 g5 and suddenly the tactics didn't work. Luke found a way to exchange queens after which his extra pawn and superior position told. It was still an exciting spectacle as the two players raced passed pawns down the board, but there could only be one winner as Luke had more pawns. The win takes him into sole lead in the tournament with a maximum six out of six.

Let's try to think of presents we wouldn't want for our birthday. In my case it would be a ticket to a Barry Manilow concert or the memoirs of some tedious politician. Hikaru Nakamura celebrated his 23rd birthday today and his 'gift' from the tournament was a Black pairing with Vladimir Kramnik. And his gift from Vlad? A Catalan Opening. Not unexpected, but I'm guessing that Hikaru's thought when he saw the ex-world champion prod his pawn to g3 was not so much "Ooh, a Catalan - just what I always wanted!" than "what have I done to deserve this?" Vlad's Catalan is so good that he 'lent' it to Vishy Anand to help him defeat Veselin Topalov in their world championship match earlier this year (now that really was a gift you'd want to have).

But that is not at all the story of the game. Vlad soon transposed into a Nimzo-Indian and seemed to getting a spatial advantage, but on move 12 he unexpectedly gave up a piece for some play. Blunder or sacrifice? If the latter, how much play did he expect to get from it? It did require Hikaru to compromise his king safety but still looked a pretty good deal for him. So maybe this was Vlad's real gift to his youthful opponent. There were a few tactics as the players reached the time trouble and Nakamura's king had to flee up the board. But it all held together somehow and Hikaru had the perfect birthday gift after all - a win with Black against Kramnik. Add that to his rugged draw with Black against Vishy Anand in the first round and he has made a remarkable start to the tournament.

Magnus Carlsen bounced back from his first round defeat with a win against England number one Mickey Adams. It was deep, positional game, emerging from an English opening. For much of the game it seemed that Mickey stood well and Magnus's play didn't really impress but, short of time, Mickey embroiled his pieces in a kingside escapade that didn't achieve much, whilst the Norwegian pieces took advantage on the opposite side of the board and won material. Faced with an enemy pawn about to queen, Mickey resigned.

World champion Vishy Anand is getting good positions in London but can't quite seem to put his opponents away. At one point, near the time control, it looked as though David Howell might succumb to a concerted attack by Vishy's queen and rook. David had to surrender a pawn but gained just enough play to hold off the world champion and eventually regained the pawn. It was a splendid rearguard effort by the young Englishman and a psychological boost after his unhappy first round. A second draw is bad news for the world champion, however, as it only garners him a total of two points compared to three other competitors who have won one and lost one but score three points for their win.

The highlight of the day for your reporter was Nigel Short's wonderful anecdote about a game he played last week in Saint Louis, Missouri, against GM Ray Robson (see the video, Round 2.4, around 52 minutes in). Returning from the rest room, Nigel looked up at the demo board as he returned to the board and thought his opponent had played Kg8. He sat down and soon played Kf2 in reply. His opponent's reply was unexpected. Not a chess move but the words "it's my move!". The young US GM hadn't played Kg8 or indeed anything else. Nigel's aberration was the result of a demo board error (the king was actually on h8). Is Nigel's unwitting attempt to play two consecutive moves unprecedented, I wonder? Later, Nigel teased Dragon expert GM Chris Ward: "Chris is one of these guys who plays Rxc3 in every position in which it is legal!" but the earlier revelation provided Chris with the perfect riposte: "Yes, but only when it is my turn!". I know it is easy to spend other people's money but I do think there should be a special prize for the best performance by a player in the commentary room. At the moment Nigel is winning this hands down.

Scores after round 2: Luke McShane 6/6, Hikaru Nakamura 4, Adams, Carlsen, Kramnik 3, Anand 2, Howell 1, Short 0

Round 3

Today was the big one - world number one plays world number two, right here in London town (we had to pinch ourselves that it was really happening). Note that I didn't specify precisely which was which - Vishy is numero uno on the official November list but Magnus is no.1 on the unofficial but authoritative 'live list'. Prior to today they had met nine times in 2010 with five of those at longplay chess (the other shorter stuff doesn't really count to purists). This year Vishy leads 3-2 with one win (in Bilbao, with Black, two months ago to the day) and four draws. Linares 2009 was the last time Magnus beat Vishy in a longplay head-to-head. So Magnus needed a win to emphasise to the chess public that he is not just a serial conqueror of lesser names, while Vishy's immediate problem was his position in the tournament: two draws are only worth two points under the 3-1-0 system and McShane was already on 6. Plenty to play for, then ...

The game started with a fairly standard Ruy Lopez but Magnus emerged well from the opening. But, just when Carlsen seemed set to assume an advantage, he went drastically wrong with 24...Be4, which he himself described as a "huge oversight". He still might have saved himself but committed a few more serious errors. Vishy himself might have converted well before the time control but for some errors of his own. Eventually it came down to a position where Vishy could play on and on and torture Magnus for many moves without risk to himself. White's main advantage was his vastly superior king safety and his ability to target Magnus's weak pawns. Carlsen tried a desperate last stand as Vishy's pieces circled and tormented his depleted forces but in the end he couldn't hold out. Despite a few flaws, this was a great win for Vishy, particularly in the final phase, and a good way to celebrate his 41st birthday on Saturday, but a severe psychological blow for the young man with designs on his crown. On the evidence of this game, Magnus still has a little way to go before he could hope to beat the likes of Vishy in a match. In some ways it was reminiscent of the game Spassky won against Fischer at the 1970 Siegen Olympiad. But we have also to bear in mind what Fischer did to Spassky in 1972.

Anyone watching big-time chess for the first time in London today will have learned that the elite game can be highly attritional. If Vishy versus Magnus was tough, Vlad versus Luke was utter torture. Eventually, via Vlad's favourite Berlin Wall (patented right here in Hammersmith), it came down to rook and bishop versus rook - the endgame dreaded by players, arbiters and chess journalists who fancy putting their feet up for the evening, dammit. A draw with best play, apart from a few specific positions, but always damnably hard to defend at the end of a long game. As British chess writer Bill Hartston once said (I'm probably misquoting): "other players make you suffer when they get the chance, so you have to make them suffer when you've got the upper hand." Why do chessplayers put themselves through this punishment? Love of the game? More like because we are total masochists. Come on, FIDE - you like messing around with the rules of the game? Why don't you declare rook and bishop versus rook to be a statutory DRAW so that some of us with lives to lead can go home, have something to eat and maybe reacquaint ourselves with our poor suffering spouses and children? Sorry - got a bit emotional there - I've calmed down now. Anyway, finally, at 9.37pm, 7 hours and 37 minutes after they started play, Vlad finally quit his winning attempts and stalemated his opponent - draw! {I suggested long ago the R+B v R should be declared 0.6 to 0.4 and the pieces then put away - SR.} Thus Luke remains the overnight leader going into round four and ensured that not one Englishman lowered his colours in this toughest of tough rounds of chess. No wonder the delighted home fans went on their way chanting 'Enger-land, Enger-land, Enger-land!'

David Howell once again showed his talent for brinksmanship, both on the board and on the clock. He defended a Fianchetto Grünfeld Defence, following a line played by Karpov and Kasparov in their 'nostalgia match' of 2009. David, who had not expected the opening played, ate up gigantic amounts of time on his clock trying to decide what to do around move 12, while Hikaru evidently thought he was playing an online bullet game. Only kidding - the real reason for his speed was that he had prepared the line in some depth. After around 25 moves played, David only had five minutes or so left while Hikaru had only used some 12-15 minutes altogether. However, David came up with a very nice 'fortress' plan to save the day; his rook, knight and king huddled together for safety whilst simultaneously protecting a couple of key pawns and preventing Hikaru's king from entering the fray. Hikaru's queen prodded and poked, and his king huffed and puffed, but the American couldn't blow the Englishman's house down.

Mickey Adams and Nigel Short have long been rivals for the title of English number one. Nigel pinched it from Mickey a year or so but Mickey raised his game and pinched it back again. Their game today was hard fought, with Nigel playing a g6 move in the Caro-Kann which has been played quite a lot by his fellow Greek residents Skembris and Nikolaidis (for those who didn't know, Nigel lives in Athens and occasionally likes to refer to himself as an "olive farmer"). Mickey played the very plausible 11 e6 to break up Black's structure and then start an attack rolling down the kingside. Some cagey shadow-boxing ensued. It was a tough game though not quite the grim struggle the other three games were. White had a long-lasting initiative but nothing came of it - draw agreed (slightly naughtily, without consulting an arbiter, but it was the deadest of dead draws).

Scores after round 3: Luke McShane 7/9, Vishy Anand, Hikaru Nakamura 5, Mickey Adams, Vladimir Kramnik 4, Magnus Carlsen 3, David Howell 2, Nigel Short 1

Round 4

The tournament has passed the midway point and we now have joint leaders. World champion Vishy Anand celebrated his 41st birthday by defeating backmarker Nigel Short to join Luke McShane (who drew with Mickey Adams) in the lead. It wasn't quite such a good day for the English players as Friday as David Howell also lost, to Vladimir Kramnik. The last game to finish was Carlsen-Nakamura, which Magnus won after five hours of play. So the scores are: Vishy Anand, Luke McShane 8/12, Vladimir Kramnik 7, Magnus Carlsen 6, Hikaru Nakamura 5, Mickey Adams 5, David Howell 2, Nigel Short 1.

Sunday sees the clash of the two leaders, while Monday is the rest day. I dare say everyone is looking forward to a break from the frenetic, not least Vlad Kramnik who told us that his 7 hour 47 minute marathon against Luke McShane was his personal record in terms of time at the board. I have no inside information as to what super-GMs do during these breaks in play. One of them, Luke McShane, is a London resident so I am guessing he won't move far from his place in Pimlico on Monday. Vlad Kramnik is reputed to be a 'night owl' so he will probably lie low for a day, though he might be tempted to pop down to Riverside Studios near the river at Hammersmith where he relieved Garry Kasparov of his world championship title ten years ago in order to seek inspiration for the coming fray.

We still have to deal with the events of round four. After emerging from some initial difficulties with his Closed Sicilian opening, Nigel Short seemed to be doing quite well around move 28, when Vishy Anand allowed him to open the g-file and land a rook on the seventh. He worked a knight around to assist in the attack but then had an aberration, sacrificing first a pawn and then a bishop to hack a way through to Vishy's king. But there was a flaw in his calculation - Vishy had the simple move 38...Qd6! which covered all the mating threats. He was left a piece adrift, so fell on his sword, allowing a mating finish to entertain the crowd.

Vladimir Kramnik built up a steady advantage from the opening (a Grünfeld) against David Howell and opened up the h-file for his rooks to infiltrate. It wasn't easy to make further progress and a liquidation occurred to what looked like a less dangerous position. However, Vlad established his rook on the seventh rank and his bishop on g4 and Black suddenly had difficulty protecting his king from their unwanted attentions. David tried a desperate b5 push and after a further inaccuracy found he couldn't prevent the advance of Vlad's d-pawn. Game over. Vlad is now a point behind leaders Vishy and Luke.

Luke McShane opened with the quiet 1 g3 and Mickey Adams gradually assumed the initiative. He established his queen and rook on the seventh rank but Luke had a tactical trick to swap the queens and relieve the pressure. Further exchanges were made and the game eventually came down to an opposite-coloured bishop - hence drawn.

Hikaru Nakamura answered Magnus Carlsen's English Opening with a sort of Dutch Defence, but the Norwegian emerged from the opening with a steady edge. One interesting juncture was when Magnus exchanged a bishop for a knight (23 Bd4 and 24 Bxb6). It looked as though Hikaru might be OK with his two bishops but Magnus's pressure told in time trouble when Hikaru didn't have time to work out the consequences of 33...Rd8!? which he thought might have been a better try. He missed the desperado sacrifice 38 Rxc6+ after which he was left a pawn down in an endgame. Magnus's technique was immaculate and he soon brought the game to an end.

Scores after round 4: Vishy Anand, Luke McShane 8/12, Vladimir Kramnik 7, Magnus Carlsen 6, Hikaru Nakamura 5, Mickey Adams 5, David Howell 2, Nigel Short 1

Round 5

Today's chess was an unofficial 'England versus the World' match as well as a critical juncture in the tournament as the joint leaders Vishy Anand and Luke McShane clashed. By the end of the round the number of leaders had swelled to three, as Magnus Carlsen took advantage of the 'football scoring system' to join Vishy and Luke at the head of the field.

The first game to finish was Anand-McShane, which ended in a draw. Luke seemed to be under some pressure from the opening and Vishy retained an edge for most of the game, but he was never able to amplify his edge. He tried a pawn sacrifice to activate his queen but it was only enough for a repetition of position.

Nigel Short had another off-day. In a spirit of recklessness born of desperation, he tried a sacrificial sideline of the Marshall Attack (9...e4) for which Hikaru was barely prepared but was able to find a stable continuation based on 11 g3 which suggests that this line may not be feasible at super-GM level. Short's position after 20 Qf5 looked hopeless and so it proved. Nigel was his usual ebullient self in the commentary room and even treated us to a burst of his singing voice at the end.

Mickey Adams confronted Vlad Kramnik's celebrated Berlin Wall with 4 d3, which the great Russian said he thought of as the "second main line" against his trademark barricade. After some exchanges, the players reached a position with a small edge for White but one which proved readily defensible by Black. After some further exchanges a draw was agreed.

David Howell, like his senior English colleague, found the cruel truth of the biblical quotation "he that has not, from him shall be taken even that which he has". There is always a tendency to gang up on players who are not doing too well in a tournament. Of course, the fact that he was paired with Magnus Carlsen didn't help. Even so, David was alive and only suffering from a slight disadvantage at the time control. However, he went astray almost immediately with 42 g5 and then the disastrous 43 Qg3 which cost him a piece.

This third win for Magnus catapulted him into the joint lead with Vishy Anand and Luke McShane; technically he is the leader on tie-break because he has had more Blacks (and more wins) than his rivals. The unofficial 'England versus the World' thus ended 3-1 in favour of the World. Asked whether he liked the 'football scoring system', Magnus smiled and answered "Now I certainly do!".

Monday is a rest day - round six is on Tuesday.

Scores after round 5: Magnus Carlsen, Vishy Anand, Luke McShane 9/15, Vladimir Kramnik, Hikaru Nakamura 8, Mickey Adams 6, David Howell 2, Nigel Short 1

Round 6

The sixth and penultimate round at Olympia consisted of four draws out of four, so the leader board didn't change. All four games were hard fought, as usual, and winning chances came and went on various boards. In some ways it was the ideal result as it leaves a tantalising final round with five players still having a realistic chance of the 50,000 euro first prize.

The first game to finish was the all-English battle between Nigel Short and David Howell. Nigel treated us to some 19th century romanticism - a King's Gambit. David chose a 1870s continuation by Blackburne (7...Bg7) rather than the older 7...Bd6, as played by Staunton amongst others. In the spirit of the opening, the players disdained to defend pawns and attacked hard but eventually the pieces came off and a level position appeared on the board.

Adams-Anand was a cagey struggle. Mickey perhaps had slightly more targets to aim at but he couldn't make significant progress. It lasted 54 moves but always seemed likely to be a draw.

Luke McShane had a great battle with Hikaru Nakamura. Luke repeated his 1 g3 experiment of the fourth round. It transposed into the English Four Knights variation. Luke might have improved with Qa4 around move 18 and it did get mightily complex in the lead up to the move 40 time control, with both players short of time. Hikaru could probably have improved his play and was close to winning but Luke was allowed to get his queen near the black king, setting up some perpetual check opportunities. Hikaru found a way to win material but Luke's queen rescued the draw on her own.

Scores after round 6: Magnus Carlsen, Vishy Anand, Luke McShane 10/18, Hikaru Nakamura, Vladimir Kramnik 9, Mickey Adams 7, David Howell 3, Nigel Short 2

The final report

Magnus Carlsen clinched first place and the 50,000 euros first prize in the 2010 London Chess Classic at Olympia on Wednesday with a consummate positional win against England's Nigel Short. Theirs was the second game to finish but the tie-break ensured that Magnus would take first regardless of other results. Vishy Anand and Vlad Kramnik drew their game and the two results should also see Magnus Carlsen reclaim his place at the top of the official rating list in January 2011. His mentor Garry Kasparov was present at the venue to comment on the games of the final round and see his protégé win the tournament for the second successive year.

The London Chess Classic has been another resounding success on all fronts. It provides a fitting finale to the annual world chess circuit as the top players jockey for supremacy on the rating list. The technology brought to bear on the event is simply awesome: chess fans worldwide are able to see as much of the action and post-match commentary as the lucky people in the building, both in real-time and after the event. The players realise they are more under the spotlight than ever and respond with uncompromising play on the stage and some entertaining cut and thrust in the commentary room. The whole thing is a virtuous circle which showcases chess as the superlative leisure activity that we know it to be. The big winner here, as last year, was chess itself, so hats off to Malcolm Pein and his organising team for all their hard work.

So Magnus did it again. It wasn't the triumphal procession of last year or comparable to his Fischer-like victories in a number of other super-tournaments. He had to pick himself up off the canvas a couple of times and was more than a shade lucky not to lose a third game, against Vlad Kramnik, but his never-say-die spirit saw him through. This ability to win tournaments from the front or from behind, in good form or not so good, makes him the supreme tournament player of the moment. Rating Change: +1.6

Vishy Anand's very presence was a signal honour to the tournament and he lived up to his reputation a great ambassador for the game as well as a superb player. His high point was the defeat of Magnus Carlsen, which was a reminder to the young man that is one thing to win tournaments but quite another to win head-to-head games against elite players - which is something Carlsen will have to do consistently in order to take Vishy's world crown. Vishy was very solid but his failure to put away a couple of highly advantageous positions in the early rounds probably cost him first place. It was great having Vishy in London. He should play here again... maybe a match this time... and 2012 seems a good year to hold it. Rating Change: +1.5

Luke McShane was the individual success story of the tournament. In the UK we've long known he is a player of prodigious talent - now the world knows it. Luke's rating trajectory would surely have taken him past 2700 some years ago but for the time taken out to study at Oxford and embark on a financial career. During the last year he has refocused on chess and he is now rapidly closing on the 2700 mark. Luke's brilliant first-round demolition of Magnus Carlsen demonstrated that he can beat anyone on his day, and he also showed he can hang in there and battle his way to a draw in bad positions. He and the world champion were both unbeaten at Olympia. On the January 2011 rating list (subject to confirmation) he should move above Nigel Short for the first time, becoming the first Englishman to break the Adams/Short duopoly for nearly 20 years. Rating Change: +18.6

Vlad Kramnik was below his best at Olympia, but only slightly. His uncharacteristic loss to Nakamura might have shaken a lesser man but he played steadily and consistently thereafter. His dry humour and relaxed charm made him a popular figure in the commentary room. Vlad loves London, and London loves Vlad. Rating Change: -2.1

Hikaru Nakamura had a tough draw, with Black against the top three players, but started excellently with a draw and a win against Anand and Kramnik respectively. Unfortunately Carlsen in round four proved a bigger obstacle. He really needed to capitalise on his good positions against the two younger Englishmen but the win eluded him on both occasions. Overall, though, this was a good and encouraging event for the young American who has a lot of fans in the UK, and his reward is to see his name amongst the top ten on the live world rating list. Rating Change: +3.2.

Mickey Adams started well with a comfortable win against David Howell but came unstuck against Magnus Carlsen in the next. His other five games were drawn but Mickey seemed to play pretty well in all of them. Overall it was a par performance for a consistent world top twenty player. Rating Change: +0.2.

David Howell was the revelation of the inaugural 2009 Classic but he found things much tougher this year, perhaps because he is now a university student with other pressing claims on his time. But his back-to-the-wall draws with Anand and Nakamura were impressive and he so nearly held off Magnus Carlsen at his best. Overall it was a hard work-out but he came through it pretty well, with only minimal damage to his rating. Rating Change: -2.8.

Nigel Short's tournament probably hinged on his second round game against Luke McShane when he failed to find the win against his opponent's Sicilian Dragon and then subsided to defeat. Both of them might have had very different tournaments had White won that game. A tactical miscalculation also cost him his fourth round game against Anand and thereafter he looked out of sorts. Nigel may be suffering from a crisis of confidence but it would be unwise to write him off as he has bounced back from such crises before. He was as ebullient as ever in the commentary room and provided the audience with great entertainment. Rating Change: -20.2.

The first game to finish was the pairing of the current world champion Vishy Anand and his great predecessor Vlad Kramnik. Vlad's own great predecessor Garry Kasparov was present in the building to see how his successors fared. Garry witnessed a Berlin Defence, which was his own nemesis in London in 2000. Vishy too was unable to overcome it. Vlad played 10...h5 in a position where he had previously played 10...Be7 or 10...b6. Vishy carried a token edge into the middlegame but it came down to an opposite-coloured bishop endgame where his extra pawn was of no consequence. Nigel Short faced leader Magnus Carlsen with the black pieces and his plan seemed to be to play the French defence and swap off some material to try and stop the rampant Norwegian in his tracks. Unfortunately, exchanges did not relieve the pressure as Magnus restrained Nigel's queenside development and occupied strong points. Magnus gave up the two bishops to round up Nigel's a-pawn and it soon subsided into a straightforward technical win as Nigel's various tricks were defused. In the VIP room Garry Kasparov correctly predicted Magnus's plan of 27 Rb5 and 28 a5 and then said "this is a technical win - let's look at another game!"

David Howell and Luke McShane are the heirs apparent of English chess and they played a full-blooded Sicilian Dragon - one of the wildest openings in the canon. Game followed theory until Luke's 17...Be6 (17...e5 has been played before). David seemed to have much the best of it of the early part of the game and it appeared his attack was crashing through when he played 33 Rxd5. But next move he hesitated and demurred to play 34 Rxh7+ Kg8 and White has the improbable 35 Rf7!! and all the tactics seem to work. Luke then missed his defence and David once more had the chance to win had he played 38 Rxh7+ and 39 Rhe7 which surely wins. Instead the game was drawn by repetition. A watching Garry Kasparov made a wicked observation: "Is Howell a member of Amnesty International?" So the game was drawn and Luke McShane had improbably remained unbeaten in the tournament.

The game between Hikaru Nakamura and Mickey Adams went right down to the kings - a most appropriate end to a fighting tournament. Mickey played his favourite Marshall Attack and Hikaru exited the 'book' when he played 17 a4. It is very possible that Hikaru could have improved on move 21 when he allowed a discovered attack on his queen. The queens came off and Mickey retained some compensation for his sacrificed pawn in the shape of the two bishops and pressure against Hikaru's hanging pawns. Eventually he managed to equalise material and draw the game.

Final Scores: 1st Magnus Carlsen 13/21, 2-3rd Vishy Anand, Luke McShane 11, 4th Hikaru Nakamura 10, 5th Vladimir Kramnik 10, 6th Mickey Adams 8, 7th David Howell 4, 8th Nigel Short 2

JUNIOR TOURNAMENTS

IAPS (Independent Association of Prep Schools) National Championships 2010

Over the Easter holidays 125 players from all over the country took part in the 38th annual Prep School Chess Championships. The standard of play was outstanding in the Championship section and the individual and team competitions were very close.

Day 1

Teams arrived early on the Wednesday morning or on the previous evening and we all met for the opening meeting at 11.00am. There were 50 players in the Championship section and 75 players in the preliminary groups which were mini tournaments to sort the players into playing strength for the next two days. The winners of the preliminary groups were Ben Wood (Aldro) group 1, Freya Finnegan (Copthorne) group 2, Oscar Plant (Millfield) group 3 and Ivan Steblyuk (St Anselms) group 4. The Championship players played 3 rounds and the leaders after the first day were last year's joint winner Daniel Sutton from Great Walstead and Gwilym Price from Aldro with 3 wins out of 3. In the evening all the boarding players had activities organised by Mr Tuddenham which included snooker, pool, table football and table tennis.

Day 2

Rounds 4 and 5 were played in the Championship with Daniel Sutton maintaining his 100% score despite two more tough games for him. Harvey Paull from Twickenham Prep had moved into 2nd place on 4.5. Sections A,B,C and D started and they all played 3 rounds. The lower sections had a coaching session at the start of the day with a variety of themes were covered by the coaches. In the afternoon most of the schools went off to Chessington World of Adventures and had an afternoon of fun and excitement. When we came back the children had a five a side football competition to look forward to and the adults had a special evening meal to look forward to. The winners of the football were St Anselms from Bakewell in Derbyshire. Congratulations to them and thanks to Monsieur Lombardot for refereeing.

Day 3

The final two rounds of the Championship were played together with the final 3 rounds for the other sections. We also had coaching again for sections B,C and D. Lunch was followed by the prize giving where the achievements of the players were rewarded with a wide variety of medals, trophies and book tokens. We were pleased to have grand master Matthew Turner to present the prizes.

YATELEY MANOR NATIONAL SCHOOLS CHAMPIONSHIP 2009-10

sponsored by Yateley Manor School <http://www.yateleymanor.com>

The competition had an increased entry of 165 teams. The Zones and Last Chance Saloons were complete by mid February, and the National stage quarter-finals were played on schedule by early May. The last four in Plate and Championship met after the exams, on Thursday 8th & Friday 9th July, at Uppingham School, our host for five consecutive years now. The only newcomer to the Finals this year was Homefield Prep School from Sutton, who are active at EPSCA and IAPS level but had never played in the Yateley Manor before.

The semi-finals took place on the Thursday evening. In the Championship Wilson's School, Plate Champions for the last two years and at Uppingham for the third time, met the very strong Haberdashers' team who deservedly won 4-2. (Haberdashers' are also serial attenders but, in this century, have always reserved it for the even-numbered years.) Manchester Grammar School, the most prolific of attenders over the years, have been building up their strength since they last appeared in 2007 and have been very strong this year. Unfortunately they were much below full strength at Uppingham. Nevertheless they made the Champions Wellington College work hard to secure the 4 points they needed.

The Plate, unusually, had two very young teams: Homefield and Aughton St Michaels, third-time attenders and still the only primary school to have got this far. They never met. In the semi-finals Aughton succumbed 5 - 1 to a strong Millfield School team, who just overcame the age handicap; while Homefield scored a winning 2 points - ½ more than they needed - against the much older King Edward Camp Hill playing without their number one.

The Finals and Third Place Play-offs began at 9 o'clock on Friday morning. In the Plate, Camp Hill scored 6 against Aughton to take third place (and "first place" out of all eight teams on game points, with a massive 10/12). Homefield, again requiring 1½ to win on age handicap, started well against Millfield by picking up an early point on board 4. When they later secured a big advantage on board 3 it was only a question of not doing anything silly. Some would have been tempted to settle for the draw which was there for the taking, but the Homefield player pressed home the win. Millfield took the remaining games, but of course it was not enough. Homefield at average age 11.1 are undoubtedly the youngest team to have taken the Plate title.

Manchester Grammar School were always struggling against Wilson's after the latter took an early 2 - 0 lead, converted after a while to 3 - 0. Winning the remaining three for a victory on age handicap was never a real possibility, and Wilson's took the match 5½ - ½. The Championship Final was sternly contested but went with the form book. Wellington's 4 - 2 win to retain their title, on level terms by age, was pretty much what the teams' relative grades predicted. There can rarely have been a stronger team than the current Wellington College one.

David Welch, ECF Chief Arbiter, officiated as always. The prizes were presented by Andrew Martin, representing the sponsors. He announced that the Yateley Manor sponsorship will continue next year.

NATIONAL STAGE

In the summary below, an asterisk indicates a win on age handicap (or board count, if there is no handicap). Failing an asterisk, the higher-scoring team is the winner.

The English Chess Federation is pleased to announce further developments in their Certificate of Merit

PROUDLY SPONSORED BY

The Certificate of Merit (COM) is centred on a number of online tests, which enable chess students to measure their progress and to earn certificates and badges. The tests are taken entirely online, and payments for the credits can be made online or by cheque. Examinees can practice as many times as they wish before they take the CoM test. All questions are multiple-choice, and the result comes through automatically - the certificate is issued by email and the button badge for the particular level is sent out by the ECF Office shortly afterwards. Please see the shop on the ECF website www.englishchess.org.uk for details of purchase of the full package or individual items.

New! Each credit costs £6 or £150 for 30. Once a student has paid for a credit, he or she can then take the test as many times as necessary until a pass is achieved.

New! Students can track each question answered wrongly and find out the correct answer.

New! The answers now have an explanation included (where appropriate)

There is also a package available of many goodies - for details, go to www.certificateofmerit.org.uk

World Youth Chess Championships 2010

We met at Gatwick Airport at 6.45am on Tuesday 19th October and checked in for our BA flight to Thessaloniki. Once we landed we were taken to our hotel by coach. On the coach we were informed that we are not actually staying in the playing venue but 10 km away. This was disappointing for all of us as we all thought we were staying in the main chess venue. We reached the hotel at about 5 pm and settled into our rooms and met for dinner - as soon as we entered the hotel restaurant we realised that the variety of cooked food, salads and range of fruit and desserts were going to be enough to cater for all dietary requirements! This was good news. After an enjoyable dinner, most of us went to bed reasonably early, but Lawrence Cooper was busy as he attended the technical meeting at 10 pm.

The tournament took place in Halkidiki, Greece

The players:

Under 10: Mark Kenyon; Under 12: Tarun Malhotra, Ravi Haria, Anna Wang; Under 14: Felix Ynojosa, Maria Wang; Under 16: Yang-Fan Zhou; Under 18: Jasper Tambini, Robert Lyddiard, Sheila Dines

Coaches: Lawrence Cooper (Head of Delegation); Lorin D'Costa; Simon Williams

Parents: Alan Kenyon, Dipak Malhotra, Sonal Haria, Hui Wang, Felix Ynojosa Senior, Chun-Ping Yang, Natalie & Ben Tambini (and Jasper's younger brother), Vidya Dines

Day 2

Coaching started early even though the pairings were not known until almost 1.00 pm. There was plenty to discuss between coach and player. By the time pairings were known, it was lunchtime. After lunch players had a short time to prepare against their opponents. We met at 2.45 for a team photo and then got on a coach journey to the playing venue.

The first day was chaotic with players settling down at their boards and getting used to the surroundings. The round started at 4.00 pm. For parents and coaches, there was a long wait mainly outside the playing hall. Laptops are not allowed in the area so it was impossible for anyone to get on with any work. As the hotel is so far away we have no choice but to sit and wait patiently for the players to finish. Results today were promising with a team score of 5.5/10. After dinner the games were analysed with the players and their respective coaches.

Day 3

Today started well with clear blue skies. Coaching continued after breakfast and everyone was preparing hard. We left for Round 2 at 3.00 p.m. A number of us waited outside the tournament hall despite the fact that there are no proper facilities for parents to wait - nothing to sit on apart from a small section of concrete wall. By evening it had become quite chilly and many games were still continuing until quite late. We waited patiently. The last player to finish, Maria, fought for almost 6 hours. We only achieved 3.5/10 today so not a great day for the team but excellent results for Felix, Yang-Fan, Robert and Sheila.

Day 6

Today was our double round day, so a long day for all of us. Round 5 started at 9.00 am and Round 6 was at 4.00 pm. A major practical difficulty today was the fact that our hotel is 10 km away from the chess venue. We were supposed to return to our hotel after the first round but we were never sure how this would work, for players who ended up playing long games. Not everyone managed to get back - the coaches generally only go once every hour so this meant you needed to finish your game in less than 4 hours - to leave the chess venue by 1.00 pm to get back, eat lunch, wait for the pairings, prepare and return on the 3.15 coach for the next round. It was difficult to have any proper coaching slots today due to the double rounds, but the coaches were all brilliant and made themselves available and were completely willing to go through games at the venue and back at the hotel. Tomorrow (Monday) is a rest day but many are using the free day to go over games with coaches and prepare for Round 7 on Tuesday. We also plan to take some rest and relax in the hotel vicinity. No sightseeing is planned, as this may be too tiring. The players want to do their best in the remaining rounds.

Round Five - Team Score: 4.5/10

Round Six - Team Score: 4/10

Day 7

Today (Monday) was a Rest Day for the players. Most of us spent the day in the hotel analysing games played so far and preparing for Round 7. We also found more relaxing things to do and everyone is looking forward to the next round. Most of us would prefer not having a double round day and just playing one round each day without a day off.

Day 8

Coaching continued, with serious preparation by players and coaches for Round 7. Excellent team score today of 6.5/10 with wins for Yang-Fan, Robert, Anna, Maria and Sheila and draws for Mark, Tarun and Felix.

Day 10

The stormy wet weather continued today. We learned later that one of the hotels was without any power all night and this was continuing during the day. This meant no laptop use - a serious situation for chess players and their coaches. We were lucky we did not have this problem. Today we achieved a team score of 5.5/10 with wins for Tarun, Ravi, Maria and draws for Mark, Felix, Yang-Fan, Jasper and Anna

BATTLE OF THE FANTASTICS*The UK Land Chess Challenge 2010

Britain's largest assemblage of youthful brain and will power took place at Warwick School on 21st and 22nd August, 2010, when almost 200 selected champions took part in the final stages of The British Land UK Chess Challenge.

This 8 month event commenced in 2,000 schools in January, with an initial line of 67,000 players. These were reduced to 8,000 participants in 42 events all over the UK in April and May. The third stage was the North and South Gigafinals in July and from there the 62 section winners, plus 132 runners up, got the chance to play in the elite section (the Terafinal) and two Challengers events. The prize money at this final stage dwarfs all other junior events, comprising at least £11,000 for the weekend.

Last year's champion, Felix Ynojosa, shot to victory with 5 straight wins. This meant, that under the tie break system, Felix would still be the winner if he lost his last game, because all his nearest rivals had dropped at least one game. This tie break system, (progressives followed by a play-off) has been criticized by some, but we should realise that it is designed, along with the 3-1 scoring system, to avoid the collusion and cosiness of the grandmaster draw, which can be such a canker at the heart of international chess. By this system, nearly all games are fought to a standstill, and any draws are legitimate ones.

Before the tournament began, one could have pointed out many obvious candidates for top prize - Yang Fan Zhou (grade 225), Felix Ynojosa (215), James Adair (212), Brandon Clarke (208), Akash Jain (200), and Craig Whitfield (191), etc.

But apart from Felix, the other favourites all had their own problems. Yang Fan got bogged down in draws against Akash Jain and Brandon Clarke; James Adair had a shock defeat in round 4 against Martin Brown (who none the less has a useful grade of 194), and Akash Jain, after a credible draw against Yang Fan, was floored by 12 year old Joseph McPhillips.

So the final score line was:-

1st Felix Ynojosa - STRAT - 15/18 Winner of the £2,000 prize

2nd= James Adair; Samuel Milson; Martin Brown - tied on 15, with each winning £335

6th= Yang Fan Zhou; Brandon Clarke - tied on 14, with each winning £100

8th= Akash Jain; Adam Taylor - tied on 13, with each winning £100

Samuel Milson had an outstanding tournament; he lost to the top rated player, Yang Fan in round 3, but then stormed back to defeat Craig Whitfield in the last round. Martin Brown lost just one game to Felix Ynojosa, but defeated James Adair in round 4. James himself gained partial satisfaction by forcing Felix to lower his colours in the final round.

One player stood out, even though he did not feature among the top prize winners and that was Joseph McPhillips, last year's U11 Champion. In round 3 he lost to Felix Ynojosa, in round 4 he defeated David Redman (this year's U11 Champion), in round 5 he did even better by beating Akash Jain. It looked like he was heading for a sensational result as he had a crushing position in the last round against Martin Brown. However, his imperturbable opponent managed to turn the tables on him and secure the win at the last moment.

The girls' prize of £1,000 went to Lateefah Messam-Sparks, who scored 12 points (4 wins and two losses). There were altogether 20 girls taking part in the Terafinal, approximately one third of the total, which is far more than the usual number of girls in other chess events. None of the girls challenged for the £2,000 top prize, although Lateefah Messam-Sparks clearly stood out by her positive and uncompromising play. This gained her hair-raising victories against the lesser fry, but also decisive defeats when she was matched against the top players. There were excellent performances from the Wang sisters, indeed, Anna Wang was in contention both for the U11 prize and for the girls prize.

The Under 11 prize of £1,000 went to child prodigy/UKCC veteran, David Redman, from Cambridge. David has been regularly appearing in the UKCC Terafinal since the age of 7 and this was his best result yet. Among the U11s, Matthew Wadsworth gave an impressive performance and his challenge for the U11 prize, was only stopped in the last round by Brandon Clarke (grade 208).

The U9s in always a hotbed of future talent, and here 7 year old Zheming Zhang, fresh from his successes in the British Championships, was extremely impressive. He had to play many stronger and older opponents, for example, James Adair (212), and Maria Wang (166). He captured the U9 title after a hard fought last round game against another talented youngster, 6 year old Aditya Verma.

Fourteen different tournaments and competitions ensure an unmatched variety of chess from which to choose, including the BCCA Annual Championship, Handicap, Gambits, Thematic, Endgame tourney and much more.

Playing Correspondence chess (CC) is an opportunity for over-the-board players to sharpen their analysis skills and deepen their opening knowledge. Many of our members combine CC with over-the-board play finding that the two are complementary in every way.

Award winning Magazine! The BCCA magazine Correspondence Chess has been issued since 1949 and was voted ECF Magazine of the Year 2008! Packed with articles, tips and puzzles as well as providing up to date BCCA news and results, the magazine/yearbook is issued free to members quarterly.

Cost: All this for only £11 a year with each tournament around £2 each.

CC in the modern world: The BCCA has an unrivalled wealth of experience in providing traditional postal chess which many of our members continue to enjoy. However, the BCCA has not stood still and embraces modern technology offering email and internet-based correspondence chess on a specially designed chess webserver in co-operation with the International Correspondence Chess Federation.

Whether you want relaxed slow play or razor-sharp competitive chess, the BCCA is for you. Correspondence chess is unique and many members form lifelong friendships through letters or notes attached to their moves. For more information, contact Stan Grayland (address above).

CHES PROBLEM NEWS by Brian Stephenson

The number of solving tournaments has grown in recent years and competition is keen - for trophies, ratings and titles. In the last year, British solvers have been active in four major events, and in all of them they have been supported by the generous sponsorship of Winton Capital Management.

First in the year was the World Chess Solving Championship (WCSC) held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil during the week of 10th - 17th October, 2009 as part of the annual World Congress of Chess Composition. A weakened British team of 3 (neither John Nunn nor David Friedgood were available) and 4 other British problemists took the 11 hour flight across the Atlantic Ocean. The first solving event was the Open Solving Contest, held the day before the WCSC. This was a triumph for FM Michael McDowell, who scored 45/60 and came 6th overall, ahead of several previous world champions. The other British solvers, Jonathan Mestel and Colin McNab, scored 32.5 and 32 respectively, coming 21st= and 23rd. The overall winner was Georgy Evseev of Russia, with 51/60.

The WCSC itself consists of 6 rounds over two days and is very hard work for both solvers and controllers. The team event was won (for the first time) by Poland with 159.5/180, with Germany and Russia a long way behind in second and third places. The individual championship went once again to Piotr Murdzia of Poland, who scored 89/90. The British team came 7th with 120/180, which is just about what rating would have suggested. Top scorer was Jonathan Mestel with 58/90, while Michael McDowell made 52 and Colin McNab 41.5. This result illustrated how important John Nunn is to the team, not just for the points he scores, but for the lift this gives the rest of the team. The good news is that he is available for the next WCSC in Crete in October, as is David Friedgood.

There is a one-day solving tournament that anybody can enter. It's called the International Solving Contest (ISC) and usually takes place on a Sunday in January. Each competing country provides a venue and a local controller, and in each venue, at the same time, the same problems are solved. There are two sections - one for experienced solvers and one for newcomers, with fewer, easier problems. The event is rated and one appearance in this will get you a half-rating, which will be elevated to a full rating when you make a second appearance. Nine British solvers competed in the 2010 event, all in the top section.

Top-scorers were 1) John Nunn 53.75/60; 2) Ian Watson 45.50; 3) Michael McDowell 39.50; 4) Paul Cumbers 30.00; 5) Paul Valois 28.75. Overall, throughout the World, 281 solvers competed and John Nunn's performance made him 6th in the World. Eddy Van Beers of Belgium won the event, with a perfect score of 60/60. The date for next year's event has not been agreed yet, but watch out for the announcement on my website (www.bstephen.me.uk). There is no entry fee and there are no prizes, but this is a very good way to sample the world of chess problem solving. The venue will be Sheffield, with possibly another one in the Kingston/Surbiton area - and lunch will be provided!

The Winton Capital British Chess Solving Championship (WCBCSC) runs from June/July until February the next year. It starts with a 'mate in two' chess problem published by magazines, newspapers and websites. Those who get that right qualify for the much more difficult postal round, consisting of eight problems of different types, which is sent out in August and which requires solutions by the end of November. The top-scorers from this postal round are invited to the final. This, the 31st Final of the British Chess Solving Championship, and the 7th sponsored by Winton Capital Management, took place at Oakham School on Saturday, 20th February 2010. Jonathan Mestel, scoring 57.75 out of a possible 65, won his seventeenth title, ahead of David Friedgood in second place, and Colin McNab in third place.

John Nunn was ill and could not compete. The Open Championship, held alongside the closed British Championship and with the same problems to solve, was won by Piotr Mudzia of Poland (the current World Chess Solving Champion). Second place went to Dolf Wissmann of the Netherlands and wellknown British junior player Ankush Khandelwal came third. Details of this championship, and earlier ones, including the problems and studies set for solution, are on my website (www.bstephen.me.uk), which will also display the next championship's starter problem during June and July 2011.

The 2010 European Chess Solving Championship (ECSC), held at Sunningdale in April, was the first major international solving event to be held in Great Britain since 1989, when the WCSC was in Bournemouth. Great Britain managed to get its top team out (John Nunn, Jonathan Mestel, Colin McNab and David Friedgood) and they won the event, with 204.5/270, followed closely by Poland on 202 and with Serbia a bit further behind on 192. Director Pavel Kamenik of the Czech Republic had selected a tough set of problems for solving. In the individual competition John Nunn became European Chess Solving Champion with a score of 80.5/90. Colin McNab came 13th on 56.25, Jonathan Mestel 15th on 54.25 and David Friedgood 23rd with 48. One benefit the host nation gets for organising such an event is the right of entering a second team. Great Britain duly did this and they came 10th with 129. Great Britain B consisted of Michael McDowell, Paul Cumbers, Roddy McKay and Ian Watson, with the latter topscoring with 46.

This report so far may have given the impression that the chess problem world is all about solving. While it is true that there is a great deal of solving (far more in recent years than at any time in the past), chess problem enthusiasts do indulge in other activities. In Great Britain one of the most enjoyable of these is the annual residential weekend, which in 2010 was, for the second year running, at Grant's Hotel in Harrogate, where we all gathered on the Friday night. There were lectures, (one by the Society's president Cedric Lytton), the AGM, composing tourneys, a couple of quizzes, a solving contest and even an excursion to Bolton Abbey in Wharfedale. The whole event finished off with a prize giving on the Monday morning. The weekend had been enjoyed so much that it was decided, pretty unanimously, to return to Grant's Hotel, Harrogate, in 2011.

One of the other, non-solving activities that problemists indulge in is composing - a very necessary thing considering the number of solving tourneys! Of course composers don't just compose to provide material for solving tourneys: they compose because they enjoy it. It is normal, in this report, to present a small sample of the output of British Composers over the previous year, but this year it seems more appropriate to present some problems by one of Britain's greatest composers - Robin Matthews - who died earlier this year. Robin was a well-known professor of economics, who was, for some years, Master of Clare College, Cambridge. He specialised in three-movers and wrote the chapters about them in Chess Problems: Introduction to an Art, a seminal work on chess problems published by Faber & Faber in 1963. His co-authors were Michael Lipton and John Rice. All three later became International Masters of Chess Composition. In 1995 Robin produced a collection of his own work, entitled Mostly Three-Movers: this was published as part of the Editions Feenschach - Phénix series produced by Bernd Ellinghoven and Denis Blondel, a most beautifully produced set of chess books. There follows three three-movers, two by Robin alone and one composed in collaboration with the American composer Bob Burger, with whom Robin did a lot of work.

British Chess Problem Society

The Problemist, one of the two bi-monthly magazines of the British Chess Problem Society, is edited by IM John Rice. It contains sections from some dozen contributors, each dealing with a particular aspect of chess composition. The magazine, regularly running to 40 pages or more, contains composing and solving tourneys for the Society's members. A Supplement, aimed principally at less experienced problem enthusiasts and also edited by John Rice, comes out at the same time. As well as receiving the magazines, British Chess Problem Society members can attend monthly meetings held in London from September to May, and UK residents may borrow books by post or in person from the Society's extensive library.

There is also an annual Residential Weekend held outside the London area around Easter. Membership costs £25 per annum (half-price for under-21s). Enquiries should be addressed to the Assistant Hon. Treasurer, Sally Lewis, 16 Cranford Close, Woodmancote, Cheltenham, GL52 9QA (email: sally.lewis89@btinternet.com). In the threat, the black queen's guard of d4 is interfered with by 2...d3, allowing 3. ♗d4#. In the first three variations Black guards d4 from different directions, but he is still forced by White to interrupt that guard, each time leading to 3. ♗d4#. It was this problem, when I saw it in the 1970s, that got me hooked on chess problems.

White persuades the black pieces to block the black rook d5, leading to three quiet continuations. In each variation, it is interesting to work out why only one continuation works and why the others don't.
